Community Fund Hits 45 Per Cent

With less than two weeks to go the Pickaway County Community Fund is far short of its 1958 goal—$28,500.

Today L. D. Varble, campaign chairman, said only $12,942, has been accumulated in the fund drive, about 45 per cent of the total needed.

The Pickaway County Community Fund is the sole local support of the five Fund agencies —the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Red Cross, Youth Canteen and Girl Scouts. These five welfare groups depend on Community Fund financing to maintain their services during the year.

Varble, reporting on collections in Industry, Special Groups and Business Divisions, said all are short of their division goals. The solicitation of these three dvisions was supposed to have ended last Saturday, but further reports from solicitors are expected.

To date, the Business Division has collected $2,029 of its $3,800 goal. Industry Division has accumulated $9,603.85 of its $12,400 goal, and the Special Groups Division has only $1,278 or its $4,700 goal in hand.

• • •

MEANWHILE, house - to-house solicitations locally are under way and county volunteer workers are calling on their neighbors for the Community Fund.

Varble issued a call to Industry, Business and Special Groups solicitors to report on all Fund contacts soon. He said many business places still have not been solicited and that the end of the campaign is drawing to a close October 13—just about 11 days from today.

DeGaulle Plans Policy Speech

French Chief To Tell Program for Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — Premier de Gaulle returned to Algeria today to inspect troops and deliver a policy statement. He is expected to spell out at least some of his plans for this troubled North African territory.

He was given a big welcome, though scattered hit-and-run incidents of sabotage and terrorism were staged by nationalist rebels in the countryside overnight.

He planned to start his Algerian tour with an inspection of troops in the Moroccan frontier area.

This is the fourth visit of the 67-year-old World War II hero to Algeria since he assumed the premiership June 1.

De Gaulle gave no hint of a new policy for Algeria in his first speech at Tiaret. He spoke only in general terms.

However, it was clear that he is not accepting rebel demands for independence.

He is delivering a policy statement at Constantine Friday.

The mixed peoples of Algeria—French, Arabs and Berbers — waited with mixed emotions for clarification of his intentions toward the territory, officially regarded in Paris as part of France.

They had contributed heavily (about 30-1) to the landslide endorsement Sunday of De Gaulle's new constitution. The Fifth French Republic, with the strongest executive branch the nation has known for three quarters of a century, will be born under the new charter next Sunday.

The tone of the reception by Algeria's French settlers, outnumbered by North Africans about 9-1, was intended to remind De Gaulle that his victory in the constitutional referendum was an outgrowth of their May 13 right-wing uprising that swept him back to power.

The settlers' major demands are for continued French rule and complete integration of Algeria into the French administrative and economic system.

U.S. Moon Rocket Gets Ground Tests

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —For the second day in a row the Air Force unveiled what is believed to be the first stage of the next U.S. moon rocket for a ground test.

The modified Thor missile puffed out smoke off and on for three hours Wednesday after its service tower was rolled clear.

Just as in a similar test Tuesday, no rocket engine ignition was seen, however.

It apparently was a static test of the missile to prepare it for launching.

The next opportune time to launch a lunar probe will come Oct. 12 and three days thereafter then the moon is closest to earth.

4 Yanks Aboard Lost Flying Boat

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A Chinese Nationalist flying boat carrying 11 persons, including four U. S. servicemen, was missing today on a flight from the offshore Matsu Islands.

The plane disappeared shortly before sunset Wednesday. Almost 24 hours later Nationalist search planes and two U. S. destroyers had failed to find a trace. Officials speculated that the slow-flying plane had encountered bad weather. They said there was no sign of Communist fighters in the area.

The four U. S. military men aboard are connected with the U. S. military advisory team stationed on Matsu. Their names were withheld.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—General Telephone Co. of Ohio, which serves about 170,000 subscribers throughout the state, today notified the Utilities Commission it will seek a rate increase, possibly in November.

The commission's secretary, W. E. Herron, received the notice in a letter from attorney Sidney D. Griffith, representing the company.

Griffith told newsmen it is impossible at this time to determine how much of an increase the company will seek. The firm serves Wilmington, Circleville, New Philadelphia - Dover, Marion, Portsmouth, Cambridge, Cadiz and other communities.

The commission was notified in advance of the actual request in order that its engineers and accountants can begin to check company records.

U.S. Cool on Red Nuclear Talk Idea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported cool today to the Soviet proposal that foreign ministers — not ambassadors—meet to seek agreement on ending nuclear weapons tests. But the proposal was promised careful study.

The Soviet proposition was made Wednesday in notes to the U.S. and British embassies in Moscow. The three governments had agreed earlier to negotiate for a nuclear test suspension in Geneva Oct. 31 but the expectation had been that they would be represented by ambassadors. This country had designated James J. Wadsworth, one of its U.N. ambassadors, to head the U.S. delegation.

The Soviet Union dispatched the notes only a day after the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission reported detection of two new Soviet nuclear tests. These ended the much-publicized Soviet voluntary test suspension, and raised some question concerning the present Soviet attitude toward the Oct. 31 talks.

Both this country and Britain let it be known, however, that they were ready to go ahead if the Soviet Union halted testing by Oct. 31.

The Soviet Union professed a desire to proceed, but it was not immediately clear what effect her newest proposal might have.

A Moscow broadcast said a quick and universal end of nuclear testing is important to all mankind and added: "For this reason the Soviet government hopes that the parties to the conference will bend every effort to come to terms on, and sign, an appropriate agreement on the earlier possible date."

The Soviet move is expected to be discussed with Britain before a final decision is made on acceptance or rejection. This may take a week or so.

The initial reaction of some U.S. officials was that much detailed work remains to be done before a test ban can be agreed upon, and this work could better be carried on by special ambassadors than by foreign ministers.

Ike, Nixon Differ on Poll Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have different ideas on how to elect a Republican Congress.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday if all the registered Republicans went out to vote there would be no trouble about electing GOP candidates. He mentioned Maine, a normally Republican state.

Nixon is campaigning in California, where party registrations give the Democrats a 7-5 advantage. He has been calling on Democrats to forget party lines and support Republicans in order to continue what he calls the best six years in the country's history.

Political strategists said Nixon's tactics of trying to enlist Democratic support appear more realistic in view of party registration strength in California and several other vital states.

Registered Democrats outnumbered Republicans by about 900,00 in California in 1956 and have been topping Republicans 5-1 in new registrations since then.

Registrations are seldom a deciding factor in elections, as Californians proved by rolling up a 600,000 margin for Eisenhower two years ago.

In last month's Maine election, which Eisenhower cited as a specific example, Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie polled 172,704 votes to 111,522 collected by GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne in the senatorial race.

California Republicans Jab at Dems

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Differences persist today among California's Big Three Republicans, but they agree on one thing. They say the Democrats are growing overconfident.

Vice President Nixon, Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, in their first joint appearance of the California election campaign, each challenged what Knight termed the Democrats' cock-sure attitude.

But the get-together at a money-raising Republican rally Wednesday night also served to point up a lapse in harmony within GOP ranks.

Nixon endorsed the entire GOP state ticket.

So did Knowland. He mentioned Knight's candidacy for the U.S. Senate and said it's important for Republicans to present a united ticket.

"It's a great team," Knowland said.

Knight remained silent on Knowland. He has refused throughout the campaign to endorse the senator, whose decision to run for governor prompted Knight's reluctant switch to the Senate race.

Nixon, in his San Diego speech, accused the Democrats of "rot-gut thinking" and of playing politics with national security.

New Tax Boss Hopes To Get Simpler Laws

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For years, Atty. Dana Latham has wished, along with other Americans, that the federal government would do something to simplify its tax laws.

He's going to get a chance to minimize any confusion. He has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to become commissioner of internal revenue.

He will be administrative head of a vast network of tax offices and can make recommendations of his own, as well as review those of others to the secretary of the Treasury.

"The goal should be for simpler, more uniform tax laws," the 60-year-old lawyer and tax expert said. "There have been improvements since the 1954 codification of tax laws. Nevertheless, with new legislation being added all the time, tax statutes still are confusing."

Latham will withdraw from the law firm of Latham and Watkins, with which he has been associated for 25 years, and as soon as he can close out his personal affairs he will go to Washington. His appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Integration Issue Brings Violence, New Maneuvers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Kentucky school was closed following an outbreak of violence while authorities in Arkansas and Virginia worked on new maneuvers designed to reopen schools that shut down in the face of orders to integrate.

Boone Hall, principal of Wheelwright, Ky., High School, planned to meet with parents and officials to decide what to do about the first racial incident since mixed classes began at the school three years ago.

Police broke up a demonstration by white pupils in which rocks were thrown and some windows were broken Wednesday. Hall said it was an out-growth of a fight between a white girl and a Negro girl in a restaurant the day before.

Classes were suspended indefinitely after the brief burst of violence. Five Negro girls were among the 650 pupils enrolled at the school but had been sent home before the rock-throwing incident.

In Washington, President Eisenhower urged obedience of U.S. Supreme Court rulings.

"It is incumbent upon all Americans . . . to recognize their duty of complying with the rulings of the highest court in the land," he told his news conference. "Any other course . . . would be fraught with grave consequences to our nation. . . ."

The Little Rock Private School Corp., however, announced plans for a segregated high school educational system using private resources in an effort to place the schools beyond the reach of federal courts.

Dr. T. J. Raney, corporation president, appealed for money and for space in buildings to get the program started. He said that one old rental building and a union hall had been offered as well as three churches, which he did not name.

"There has been quite a lot of money contributed — $5,000 from one person alone here in Little Rock," he said, but he did not give an over - all figure. School Supt. Virgil Blossom estimated it costs $19,000 a week to operate the four high schools.

Asked if any plans were being made to teach the Negroes of Horace Mann High, one of the closed schools, Raney said "not in our corporation." He added he had no knowledge of any offers of money or facilities for Negro pupils.

In Richmond, Vice Mayor Robert J. Heberle said in a letter to Eisenhower that he did not consider the court's "recent opinions as the law of the land, but rather as an attempt to change the law of the land. . . ."

"You cannot be fundamentally honest if you ask me as a public official to aid in the conversion of our good schools into the disgraceful mess which exists in your Washington schools," he wrote. The Washington schools have been integrated for several years.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. was reported considering plans to reorganize Virginia's nine closed schools so that some of the 13,000 idle children could return to classes.

Informed sources said they believed this might be done by eliminating one or more grades that were ordered to integrate at individual schools.

At Miami, Fla., the Dade County School Board rejected the applications of 37 Negro pupils for transfer to white schools.

Elvis To Check On Rumors of German Girls

FRIEDBERG, Germany (AP)—Pvt. Elvis Presley said today he wants to meet German girls, see German opera and buy a guitar during his tour of duty with the U.S. Army in West Germany.

The rock 'n' roll singer, temporarily turned soldier, also said he still wants to meet French actress Brigitte Bardot.

The 23-year-old Presley held a news conference before 150 reporters and photographers in the enlisted men's club of the 3rd Armored Division. He arrived in this old German garrison town Wednesday night with 142 other recruits to start rigorous training as a tank crewman.

Of German girls, Presley said, "I've heard lots of rumors about them and I want to meet them."

What rumors? He quickly replied: "I'd better not answer that question. But nevertheless I would like to meet them."

Asked about a New York statement that he would like to meet Bardot, he said he knew she was engaged to another guitarist—Sascha Distel—and added: "I got sort of shot out of the saddle on that one."

250,000 UAW Men Involved

Walkout Complete Soon after Deadline

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today struck General Motors after a final 20-hour bargaining session failed to bring contract agreement covering 250,000 workers.

Thousands of GM workers struck well in advance of the official strike deadline, 10 a.m. EST.

General Motors said the strike was almost 10 per cent within 30 minutes.

GM Vice President Louis Seaton, head of the company bargaining team, conceded an hour before the deadline that efforts to reach a settlement had failed.

Seaton termed the strike "a useless type of thing which will result in loss of wages, losses to our suppliers and dealers, and to everyone from the baker to the butcher."

UAW President Walter Reuther, who Wednesday reached contract agreement with Chrysler Corp., expressed disappointment at his failure to achieve the same result with GM.

Reuther said he was not asking any more from GM than he had obtained in the Ford-Chrysler agreements. The UAW reached agreement on a three-year contract with Ford Sept. 17. The Chrysler pact nearly duplicated the Ford pattern.

Reuther insisted GM workers "are entitled to some special consideration in matters pertaining to wage inequities and short work weeks."

GM, like the other auto makers, had a disappointing sales year for 1958 models and many workers had long layoffs or short work weeks most of the year.

Today's was the first national strike at GM since 1945 when the nation's largest automobile manufacturer was tied up for 113 days in a dispute over wages.

Reuther's UAW settled with Chrysler and Ford on a pattern calling for increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour over the three-year life of the new contracts. The pacts also provided increases in supplemental unemployment pay and severance pay for workers who lose their jobs because of plant shutdowns or transfers.

Seaton was asked if GM planned any move in the final hour of bargaining. "We see no necessity for a new offer when we've already made one exactly like that of Ford and Chrysler, which the union said was good for the UAW and good for the nation," he replied.

Both GM and the UAW conceded that the GM bargaining picture is the most complicated in the industry because t hecompany has many more plants and thousands more workers than either Ford or Chrysler, other members of the industry's Big Three.

Seaton said that GM's output is so diversified, ranging from automobiles to refrigerators to electric locomotives, that there are thousands of pay scales. The union has insisted that the wage rates of an assembler, for example, should be uniform in GM plants but Seaton declared the types of work are so varied, it would be impossible to adopt a standard rate.

The International Electrical Workers, with 20,000 members in GM plants, also went on strike with the UAW today.

GM deals with 17 other unions in addition to the UAW and the IUE.

Like other auto makers, it is just getting rolling on production of 1959 cars.

The UAW strike plan will go into operation at the beginning of the third week of the strike and will cost the union an estimated $8,274,000 a week. Strike benefits will run from $12 for a single person to $22 for a family man.

There were no reports of any incidents as workers walked off the job and set u phuge picket lines around many GM plants.

Calm, Silent Bank Thug Gets $5,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Asst. Vice President Monroe W. Long looked up from his desk at the Cheltenham National Bank and saw a tall slender man walk casually through the door.

The man was wearing white gloves and a checked lumberman's shirt. He had a white handkerchief tied about his face and a pistol in his hand.

It was five minutes before closing Wednesday. Some six customers were in the suburban bank.

The man paid no attention to them. Without a word or a threatening gesture, he walked among the customers to the counter.

He vaulted the counter and walked into the cage of teller Anna Kirk. From his pocket he took a large paper bag, and, standing beside Mrs. Kirk, he started taking money from her cash drawer.

She pressed an alarm button. A bell clanged outside the building. The robber took no notice; never even looked up, she said. Outside, passers-by crowded excitedly around the bank door.

The man—about 30, Long said later—went to a second teller's cage, then a third, each time filling his bag from the cash drawer, never seeming to hurry.

Finally, he vaulted the counter again and only then did he quicken his pace. That seemed to arouse the customers. One of them threw a marble pen and pencil stand. It missed the robber by a foot, smashing the glass of the swinging door.

The robber pushed through the crowd on the sidewalk. They gave way. But Thomas Regan, 21, an electric company meter reader, ran toward the man as if to tackle him. A woman school crossing guard screamed: "He's got a gun. Don't bother him; some of the children might get hurt."

The robber hastened to a car parked at the curb, fumbled with the door lock, got in and drove off. He hadn't said a word. The car was found an hour later in a parking lot. It had been stolen, police said.

Later, after the FBI arrived, an agent said the robber got away with about $5,000.

Both this country and Britain let it be known, however, that they were ready to go ahead if the Soviet Union halted testing by Oct. 31.

The Soviet Union professed a desire to proceed, but it was not immediately clear what effect her newest proposal might have.

A Moscow broadcast said a quick and universal end of nuclear testing is important to all mankind and added: "For this reason the Soviet government hopes that the parties to the conference will bend every effort to come to terms on, and sign, an appropriate agreement on the earlier possible date."

The Soviet move is expected to be discussed with Britain before a final decision is made on acceptance or rejection. This may take a week or so.

The initial reaction of some U.S. officials was that much detailed work remains to be done before a test ban can be agreed upon, and this work could better be carried on by special ambassadors than by foreign ministers.

Ike, Nixon Differ on Poll Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon have different ideas on how to elect a Republican Congress.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday if all the registered Republicans went out to vote there would be no trouble about electing GOP candidates. He mentioned Maine, a normally Republican state.

Nixon is campaigning in California, where party registrations give the Democrats a 7-5 advantage. He has been calling on Democrats to forget party lines and support Republicans in order to continue what he calls the best six years in the country's history.

Political strategists said Nixon's tactics of trying to enlist Democratic support appear more realistic in view of party registration strength in California and several other vital states.

Registered Democrats outnumbered Republicans by about 900,00 in California in 1956 and have been topping Republicans 5-1 in new registrations since then.

Registrations are seldom a deciding factor in elections, as Californians proved by rolling up a 600,000 margin for Eisenhower two years ago.

In last month's Maine election, which Eisenhower cited as a specific example, Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie polled 172,704 votes to 111,522 collected by GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne in the senatorial race.

California Republicans Jab at Dems

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Differences persist today among California's Big Three Republicans, but they agree on one thing. They say the Democrats are growing overconfident.

Vice President Nixon, Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, in their first joint appearance of the California election campaign, each challenged what Knight termed the Democrats' cock-sure attitude.

But the get-together at a money-raising Republican rally Wednesday night also served to point up a lapse in harmony within GOP ranks.

Nixon endorsed the entire GOP state ticket.

So did Knowland. He mentioned Knight's candidacy for the U.S. Senate and said it's important for Republicans to present a united ticket.

"It's a great team," Knowland said.

Knight remained silent on Knowland. He has refused throughout the campaign to endorse the senator, whose decision to run for governor prompted Knight's reluctant switch to the Senate race.

Nixon, in his San Diego speech, accused the Democrats of "rotgut thinking" and of playing politics with national security.

New Tax Boss Hopes To Get Simpler Laws

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For years, Atty. Dana Latham has wished, along with other Americans, that the federal government would do something to simplify its tax laws.

He's going to get a chance to minimize any confusion. He has accepted President Eisenhower's invitation to become commissioner of internal revenue.

He will be administrative head of a vast network of tax offices and can make recommendations of his own, as well as review those of others to the secretary of the Treasury.

"The goal should be for simpler, more uniform tax laws," the 60-year-old lawyer and tax expert said. "There have been improvements since the 1954 codification of tax laws. Nevertheless, with new legislation being added all the time, tax statutes still are confusing."

Latham will withdraw from the law firm of Latham and Watkins, with which he has been associated for 25 years, and as soon as he can close out his personal affairs he will go to Washington. His appointment is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Integration Issue Brings Violence, New Maneuvers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Kentucky school was closed following an outbreak of violence while authorities in Arkansas and Virginia worked on new maneuvers designed to reopen schools that shut down in the face of orders to integrate.

Boone Hall, principal of Wheelwright, Ky., High School, planned to meet with parents and officials to decide what to do about the first racial incident since mixed classes began at the school three years ago.

Police broke up a demonstration by white pupils in which rocks were thrown and some windows were broken Wednesday. Hall said it was an out-growth of a fight between a white girl and a Negro girl in a restaurant the day before.

Classes were suspended indefinitely after the brief burst of violence. Five Negro girls were among the 650 pupils enrolled at the school but had been sent home before the rock-throwing incident.

In Washington, President Eisenhower urged obedience of U.S. Supreme Court rulings.

"It is incumbent upon all Americans . . . to recognize their duty of complying with the rulings of the highest court in the land," he told his news conference. "Any other course . . . would be fraught with grave consequences to our nation. . . ."

The Little Rock Private School Corp., however, announced plans for a segregated high school educational system using private resources in an effort to place the schools beyond the reach of federal courts.

Dr. T. J. Raney, corporation president, appealed for money and for space in buildings to get the program started. He said that one old rental building and a union hall had been offered as well as three churches, which he did not name.

"There has been quite a lot of money contributed — $5,000 from one person alone here in Little Rock," he said, but he did not give an over - all figure. School Supt. Virgil Blossom estimated it costs $19,000 a week to operate the four high schools.

Asked if any plans were being made to teach the Negroes of Horace Mann High, one of the closed schools, Raney said "not in our corporation." He added he had no knowledge of any offers of money or facilities for Negro pupils.

In Richmond, Vice Mayor Robert J. Heberle said in a letter to Eisenhower that he did not consider the court's "recent opinions as the law of the land, but rather as an attempt to change the law of the land. . . ."

"You cannot be fundamentally honest if you ask me as a public official to aid in the conversion of our good schools into the disgraceful mess which exists in your Washington schools," he wrote. The Washington schools have been integrated for several years.

Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. was reported considering plans to reorganize Virginia's nine closed schools so that some of the 13,000 idle children could return to classes.

Informed sources said they believed this might be done by eliminating one or more grades that were ordered to integrate at individual schools.

At Miami, Fla., the Dade County School Board rejected the applications of 37 Negro pupils for transfer to white schools.

Elvis To Check On Rumors of German Girls

FRIEDBERG, Germany (AP)—Pvt. Elvis Presley said today he wants to meet German girls, see German opera and buy a guitar during his tour of duty with the U.S. Army in West Germany.

The rock 'n' roll singer, temporarily turned soldier, also said he still wants to meet French actress Brigitte Bardot.

The 23-year-old Presley held a news conference before 150 reporters and photographers in the enlisted men's club of the 3rd Armored Division. He arrived in this old German garrison town Wednesday night with 142 other recruits to start rigorous training as a tank crewman.

Of German girls, Presley said, "I've heard lots of rumors about them and I want to meet them."

What rumors? He quickly replied: "I'd better not answer that question. But nevertheless I would like to meet them."

Asked about a New York statement that he would like to meet Bardot, he said he knew she was engaged to another guitarist—Sascha Distel—and added: "I got sort of shot out of the saddle on that one."

250,000 UAW Men Involved

Walkout Complete Soon after Deadline

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union today struck General Motors after a final 20-hour bargaining session failed to bring contract agreement covering 250,000 workers.

Thousands of GM workers struck well in advance of the official strike deadline, 10 a.m. EST.

General Motors said the strike was almost 10 per cent within 30 minutes.

GM Vice President Louis Seaton, head of the company bargaining team, conceded an hour before the deadline that efforts to reach a settlement had failed.

Seaton termed the strike "a useless type of thing which will result in loss of wages, losses to our suppliers and dealers, and to everyone from the baker to the butcher."

UAW President Walter Reuther, who Wednesday reached contract agreement with Chrysler Corp., expressed disappointment at his failure to achieve the same result with GM.

Reuther said he was not asking any more from GM than he had obtained in the Ford-Chrysler agreements. The UAW reached agreement on a three-year contract with Ford Sept. 17. The Chrysler pact nearly duplicated the Ford pattern.

Reuther insisted GM workers "are entitled to some special consideration in matters pertaining to wage inequities and short work weeks."

GM, like the other auto makers, had a disappointing sales year for 1958 models and many workers had long layoffs or short work weeks most of the year.

Today's was the first national strike at GM since 1945 when the nation's largest automobile manufacturer was tied up for 113 days in a dispute over wages.

Reuther's UAW settled with Chrysler and Ford on a pattern calling for increases of 24 to 30 cents an hour over the three-year life of the new contracts. The pacts also provided increases in supplemental unemployment pay and severance pay for workers who lose their jobs because of plant shutdowns or transfers.

Seaton was asked if GM planned any move in the final hour of bargaining. "We see no necessity for a new offer when we've already made one exactly like that of Ford and Chrysler, which the union said was good for the UAW and good for the nation," he replied.

Both GM and the UAW conceded that the GM bargaining picture is the most complicated in the industry because t hecompany has many more plants and thousands more workers than either Ford or Chrysler, other members of the industry's Big Three.

Seaton said that GM's output is so diversified, ranging from automobiles to refrigerators to electric locomotives, that there are thousands of pay scales. The union has insisted that the wage rates of an assembler, for example, should be uniform in GM plants but Seaton declared the types of work are so varied, it would be impossible to adopt a standard rate.

The International Electrical Workers, with 20,000 members in GM plants, also went on strike with the UAW today.

GM deals with 17 other unions in addition to the UAW and the IUE.

Like other auto makers, it is just getting rolling on production of 1959 cars.

The UAW strike plan will go into operation at the beginning of the third week of the strike and will cost the union an estimated $8,274,-000 a week. Strike benefits will run from $12 for a single person to $22 for a family man.

There were no reports of any incidents as workers walked off the job and set u phuge picket lines around many GM plants.

Calm, Silent Bank Thug Gets $5,000

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Asst. Vice President Monroe W. Long looked up from his desk at the Cheltenham National Bank and saw a tall slender man walk casually through the door.

The man was wearing white gloves and a checked lumberman's shirt. He had a white handkerchief tied about his face and a pistol in his hand.

It was five minutes before closing Wednesday. Some six customers were in the suburban bank.

The man paid no attention to them. Without a word or a threatening gesture, he walked among the customers to the counter.

He vaulted the counter and walked into the cage of teller Anna Kirk. From his pocket he took a large paper bag, and, standing beside Mrs. Kirk, he started taking money from her cash drawer.

She pressed an alarm button. A bell clanged outside the building. The robber took no notice; never even looked up, she said. Outside, passers-by crowded excitedly around the bank door.

The man—about 30, Long said later—went to a second teller's cage, then a third, each time filling his bag from the cash drawer, never seeming to hurry.

Finally, he vaulted the counter again and only then did he quicken his pace. That seemed to arouse the customers. One of them threw a marble pen and pencil stand. It missed the robber by a foot, smashing the glass of the swinging door.

The robber pushed through the crowd on the sidewalk. They gave way. But Thomas Regan, 21, an electric company meter reader, ran toward the man as if to tackle him. A woman school crossing guard screamed: "He's got a gun. Don't bother him; some of the children might get hurt."

The robber hastened to a car parked at the curb, fumbled with the door lock, got in and drove off. He hadn't said a word. The car was found an hour later in a parking lot. It had been stolen, police said.

Later, after the FBI arrived, an agent said the robber got away with about $5,000.

Ohio Bell Asks For New Hearing On Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. says the increased rates it wants are just and reasonable, and has asked the Utilities Commission to promptly set a date for a public hearing on the matter.

The company set forth its views Wednesday in filing objections to a commission staff report on Ohio Bell's application for a 28-million-dollar annual rate boost.

Ashley Van Duzer, the company's general counsel, disagreed with commission staff members on the cost of replacing various types of company property. He also disagreed with depreciation rates used by commission engineers.

The staff report reduced the company's rate base, or valuation, from $636,103,000 to $578,287,865. Under law, a utility is entitled to a fair rate of earnings based on its value.

Dulles Sends New Message To Reassure Nationalists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has sent President Chiang Kai-Shek a message designed to assure him the United States is standing by its basic policies on Formosa and Nationalist China.

The message represents a move by Dulles to bridge the split which developed from statements Dulles made at a news conference Tuesday.

His statements were interpreted as meaning the United States was prepared to bargain with Red China on the future status or at least the military use of Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Chiang replied Wednesday in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press saying he found Dulles' news conference statements unbelievable and that the U.S. attitude expressed by Dulles appeared to be "completely incompatible" with Nationalist China's determination to defend Quemoy and Matsu.

Dulles left unchanged the U.S. pledge not to bargain with the Reds over any concession involving Nationalist Chinese rights. Specifically, he avoided any comment that would change the U.S. stand for leaving the legal title to Quemoy and Matsu in Nationalist control even if the defenses were modified.

Dulles indicated at a news conference in Washington Tuesday that the United States would be willing to negotiate over the offshore islands if the Chinese Communists would stop shelling the Quemoy group. President Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist leaders have hotly rejected Dulle s'suggestions that Nationalist forces on the islands be reduced if a cease-fire could be arranged.

The responsible Nationalist official, who declined to be identified, said Dulles had created misgivings that the United States would fail to honor its pledge. Washington promised not to prejudice Nationalist rights at the talks of the U.S. and Red Chinese ambassadors in Warsaw, he said.

"The American pledge to its ally, the Republic of China, carried a tremendous impact in the free world, which is now watching to see that it is carried out," the official said.

The Nationalist Foreign Ministry declined immediate comment on President Eisenhower's statements at his news conference Wednesday. Officials were studying a transcript of the conference.

The President agreed with Dulles that Chiang should not have concentrated 100,000 troops on the offshore islands.

Bricker Shuns Right-to-Work As Big Issue

COLUMBUS (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill surprised political observers Wednesday when he announced that he intended to make the controversial union shop ban issue a major issue in his campaign for re-election.

There apparently was no consultation with GOP Sen. John W. Bricker, candidate for re-rlection, before the statement was issued. At about the same time, Bricker issued a statement announcing that he will delay his discussion of the red-hot issue until an Oct. 20 speech in Cincinnati.

Bricker's statement also indicated the senator at this time is unwilling to make the constitutional question a major issue of his campaign. He said:

"Friends have been urging me to announce how I intend to vote on the right-to-work proposal and to devote all of my campaign effort to discussion of that subject. They theorize that Ohio's voters will listen to nothing else. I disagree.

"Our intelligent voters know that on a single constitutional amendment, such as right-to-work, the issue is settled by their own direct votes. They also know that to choose a senator wisely they need to know how he is likely to stand on many propositions."

Recession Blamed On GOP by Truman

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Recession and unemployment have been brought by the Republican party to almost every state in the Union, former President Harry S. Truman charged in a speech at Cheyenne Wednesday night.

Truman said, "The truth about this Republican administration is apparent in a stagnant economy and a lagging national defense."

According to the former President, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's farm program is a throwback to the days of Harding and Coolidge, "when there were no price supports and all the farmers were at the mercy of the commodity exchanges."

Stock Mart Steady, Tries Move Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market steadied and began to move ahead slightly in lively trading early this afternoon.

Leading issues advanced fractions to a point or more.

Steels and motors gave ground early but firmed and went ahead.

Prices were irregular early but the market resumed a pattern of buying on spells of weakness.

Chemicals, oils, some rails, drugs and tobaccos also showed plus signs. Aircrafts adopted a lower trend. Rubbers were mixed. Utilities changed little, American Telephone having a 1-point loss.

Chrysler was up fractionally in the wake of its labor settlement. General Motors, down a bit at the start, advanced a point or so despite the walkout at its plants.

Early concern that the Federal Reserve Board might take further restrictive action on credit appeared to be evaporating. Meanwhile, higher retail sales in September and a sharp rise in electric power output were encouraging items.

Allied Chemical rose about 2 and Gulf Oil more than a point. Most oils continued their rise of Wednesday. Texas Co., Standard (NJ) and Royal Dutch were up fractions.

International Nickel also was a point ahead. Anaconda and Kennecott rose about a point and Magma Copper about 2.

Fractional losses were taken by Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Southern Railway and American Cyanamid.

U.S. government bonds were up slightly in slow dealings over the counter.

Ohio Bell Asks For New Hearing On Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. says the increased rates it wants are just and reasonable, and has asked the Utilities Commission to promptly set a date for a public hearing on the matter.

The company set forth its views Wednesday in filing objections to a commission staff report on Ohio Bell's application for a 28-million-dollar annual rate boost.

Ashley Van Duzer, the company's general counsel, disagreed with commission staff members on the cost of replacing various types of company property. He also disagreed with depreciation rates used by commission engineers.

The staff report reduced the company's rate base, or valuation, from $636,103,000 to $578,287,865. Under law, a utility is entitled to a fair rate of earnings based on its value.

Dulles Sends New Message To Reassure Nationalists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has sent President Chiang Kai-Shek a message designed to assure him the United States is standing by its basic policies on Formosa and Nationalist China.

The message represents a move by Dulles to bridge the split which developed from statements Dulles made at a news conference Tuesday.

His statements were interpreted as meaning the United States was prepared to bargain with Red China on the future status or at least the military use of Nationalist-held islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

Chiang replied Wednesday in an exclusive interview with the Associated Press saying he found Dulles' news conference statements unbelievable and that the U.S. attitude expressed by Dulles appeared to be "completely incompatible" with Nationalist China's determination to defend Quemoy and Matsu.

Dulles left unchanged the U.S. pledge not to bargain with the Reds over any concession involving Nationalist Chinese rights. Specifically, he avoided any comment that would change the U.S. stand for leaving the legal title to Quemoy and Matsu in Nationalist control even if the defenses were modified.

Dulles indicated at a news conference in Washington Tuesday that the United States would be willing to negotiate over the offshore islands if the Chinese Communists would stop shelling the Quemoy group. President Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist leaders have hotly rejected Dulle s'suggestions that Nationalist forces on the islands be reduced if a cease-fire could be arranged.

The responsible Nationalist official, who declined to be identified, said Dulles had created misgivings that the United States would fail to honor its pledge. Washington promised not to prejudice Nationalist rights at the talks of the U.S. and Red Chinese ambassadors in Warsaw, he said.

"The American pledge to its ally, the Republic of China, carried a tremendous impact in the free world, which is now watching to see that it is carried out," the official said.

The Nationalist Foreign Ministry declined immediate comment on President Eisenhower's statements at his news conference Wednesday. Officials were studying a transcript of the conference.

The President agreed with Dulles that Chiang should not have concentrated 100,000 troops on the offshore islands.

Bricker Shuns Right-to-Work As Big Issue

COLUMBUS (AP — Gov. C. William O'Neill surprised political observers Wednesday when he announced that he intended to make the controversial union shop ban issue a major issue in his campaign for re-election.

There apparently was no consultation with GOP Sen. John W. Bricker, candidate for re-rlection, before the statement was issued. At about the same time, Bricker issued a statement announcing that he will delay his discussion of the red-hot issue until an Oct. 20 speech in Cincinnati.

Bricker's statement also indicated the senator at this time is unwilling to make the constitutional question a major issue of his campaign. He said:

"Friends have been urging me to announce how I intend to vote on the right-to-work proposal and to devote all of my campaign effort to discussion of that subject. They theorize that Ohio's voters will listen to nothing else. I disagree.

"Our intelligent voters know that on a single constitutional amendment, such as right-to-work, the issue is settled by their own direct votes. They also know that to choose a senator wisely they need to know how he is likely to stand on many propositions."

Recession Blamed On GOP by Truman

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Recession and unemployment have been brought by the Republican party to almost every state in the Union, former President Harry S. Truman charged in a speech at Cheyenne Wednesday night.

Truman said, "The truth about this Republican administration is apparent in a stagnant economy and a lagging national defense."

According to the former President, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's farm program is a throwback to the days of Harding and Coolidge, "when there were no price supports and all the farmers were at the mercy of the commodity exchanges."

Huge Fall Pig Crop To Chop Pork Prices in Late 1959

The Ohio swine producer can expect more hogs and lower prices in 1959 and 1960 if present production trends continue, according to George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture.

Hamrick points out that farmers have indicated they plan to farrow 13 per cent more sows this fall. This would mean a fall pig crop in the U. S. of about 41.5 million pigs — the largest peacetime fall crop on record.

"This rise in the fall pig crop likely will result in substantially lower prices for pigs in the spring and summer of 1959 than the relatively high prices in those seasons this year," the specialist says.

He points, however, to several bright spots in the hog picture. The fall pig crop usually is the small of the two annual crops and hogs from it reach market at a time when pork output is seasonally smaller. Cold storage stocks this winter will be kept smaller than usual, offsetting some of next spring's increase in current pork production. The increase in pork output will begin from the lowest level, relative to population, that it has in several years and beef output will remain small in 1959.

Even more significant, Hamrick explains, is the fact that hog prices next spring should be fairly high in relation to the price of corn. The real danger, as Hamrick sees it, is that continued production at the rapid pace now underway could mean excessive production and severe price adjustments in the fall of 1959.

SACCHARIN, LARD, corn sugar, and dried molasses all encouraged baby pigs to eat more creep feed at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station. More surprising, so did such materials as limestone and steamed bone meal.

This time in a pig's life — between birth and weaning— is extremely important. During their their eight weeks they have a potential for rapid gain which the hog grower can cash in on by catering to the babies' taste.

E. A. Rutledge and H. S. Teague report that Duroc and Yorkshire pigs fed saccharin in the rations —one pound per ton —ate 5 pounds more feed in three weeks than pigs given a ration of corn and oat groats with salt and antibiotics added. On the other hand, in the two-season trial, 1 per cent limestone plus 1 per cent steamed bone meal or 10 per cent lard mixed into feed hiked feed consumption most consistently.

Pigs getting saccharin ate an average of about 6½ pounds from the second to the fifth week compared to less than 2 pounds for the control pigs. The corn sugar made the feed more palatable and, except for one group of pigs this year, pigs ate more of this creep ration.

Cooking the corn-oats basal ration also increased amount of feed eaten by nearly 2 pounds per pig.

Pigs are creep-fed to make sure they get all the feed they can eat in addition to their mothers' milk. The consumption of a feed is influenced by kind, amount and physical qualities of the ingredients, the swine researchers say. They will continue research on these factors.

GOOD, RED blood is at a premium in the young pig. Of all the animals of the barnyard, he is the most apt to suffer from anemia. He has the blood factory to pour out the supply of blood he needs. But often one raw material —iron —is lacking.

Iron is needed to make hemoglobin, the red coloring matter than transports oxygen from end of snout to tip of tail. The baby pig is most likely to be anemic in his second and third weeks of life. This early period before he is weaned from the mother is most critical. Although the mother's milk may be more than ample in quantity, it is low in iron.

At the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station in Wooster, animal scientists gave iron to piglets in one of two ways: by injecting it into the muscles or by administering by mouth. The idea was to observe the influence on hemoglobin production. According to most animal scientists, the preferred level of hemoglobin is about 12 grams per 100 milliliters of blood.

The injected iron was given as "Armidexan", reported to not only prevent anemia but to hike gains and reduce scouring.

In most cases the pigs receiving injected iron gained slightly better than those given the element by mouth. The amount of hemoglobin in the blood increased most rapidly at two days when an iron injection was used or when reduced iron was given orally on the second and seventh day.

Bricker Raps Congress for Labor Inaction

CLEVELAND (AP)—Failure of the 85th Congress to pass labor reform legislation was assailed here today by Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio).

In an address prepared for a meeting of the Ohio State Nurses Assn., the senator said the "American people expected legislation which would effectively outlaw the dictatorial, corrupt and violent practices engaged in by some labor union leaders," but they did not get it.

He said a weak labor reform bill did pass the Senate after a large majority of Republican senators had failed to win support for strengthening amendments.

"Our hope was that this labor bill could be strengthened in the House of Representatives," Bricker continued. "You should know that for 40 days and 40 nights the speaker of the House literally sat on this bill and refused to refer it to the House Labor Committee for action."

The senator also assailed the "spending spree" of the 85th Congress as "reckless" and said that federal spending authorized in 1958 "will produce a federal deficit of about 10 billion dollars for the current fiscal year."

"I do not believe that the people of Ohio want their representatives in Washington to push America to the brink of bankruptcy," he continued.

Bricker said some increased federal spending was justified, such as cost-of-living increases for postal employes and social security beneficiaries and funds for an expanded missile program to meet "the challenge of sputnik."

Commenting on what he called the sharp differences in the approach taken by the two major political parties to health problems, Bricker said:

"The Republican party is united in its opposition to compulsory health insurance. Many leaders of the Democratic party, on the other hand, seek to impose on the people of the United States some form of socialized medicine."

4 U.S. Steel Chiefs Study Foreign Firms

CLEVELAND (AP) — Foreign competition and the business climate at home were topics for discussion by four steel company executives Wednesday.

At a meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute Wednesday night A. S. Glossbrenner, president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., said:

"We are at war with the Soviet Union—economic war. They mean business. They intend to win it. The steel industry of our two countries is one of the major fronts of this economic war."

Earlier, Max D. Howell, executive vice president of the institute, said Russian heavy steel products were beginning to appear on the world market.

The Soviet steel industry, he said, "appears to have expanded more rapidly than the consumer fabrication capacity has been permitted to develop by the government. This may well result in an increased volume of some products appearing in world markets."

Competing with foreign steel productivity in United States' mills, said R. R. Snow, assistant vice president of U. S. Steel Corp.'s American Steel and Wire Division.

"We are no longer competing with slow foreign mills," he declared, "They have mills as modern as ours."

FINGER OF GUILT POINTED AT THEM—The Scoleri brothers, Anthony and Joseph, wanted for a holdup killing in Philadelphia, are pointed out in Chicago by Mrs. Caroline Brown as the pair who tortured her and her son George during a robbery of George's drugstore. They are also believed to have committed robberies in Ohio cities. The brothers were arrested in Kansas City, Mo.

National Debt Real Problem

That the national debt, now about $280 billion and going higher, is an increasingly vital factor in American life, is shown by the fact that there is "only" $3 billion cash in the federal treasury, some urgent borrowing is just ahead, and there is the necessity of refunding $100 billion of the debt in the next year.

The government's spending pace is accented by the fact that the $3 billion on hand will last only two weeks. Older adults can remember when the first "billion dollar Congress" caused wide talk. Now a billion dollars doesn't last a week.

The Treasury tried earnestly to put a large part of the debt on a long term basis. But it was competing with the bond offerings of state and local governments and private industry. There isn't enough long term private investment for all.

Inflation fears have caused many investors to sell or borrow on their government paper to obtain cash for investments with higher earning and increment prospects. This restricts the government borrowing field, outside the banks, still more.

Higher interest rates seem certain for the government. Some private companies are now marketing bonds at 4½ per cent. Should such a rate finally be applied to the national debt of $280 billion, it would put the annual interest bill above $12 billion a year.

But the worst aspect of it is that the growing national debt is already too competitive with the private enterprise system that makes America tick. Its assimilation will get no simpler as it grows in size.

Bureaucracy Grows Despite Need

Parkinson's Law is a theory, based on research for a century or more, that bureaucracy grows regardless of whether its personnel has necessary work to do. If the work load lessens, keep the same old force or even increase it. And if there is no authorization for a bureau, do not disband it until absolutely necessary.

Washington observers cite an instance supporting the theory. Congress adjourned without voting funds for college housing programs. But the Housing and Home Finance Administration, the bureau that would handle such funds if they were available, went on accepting and processing applications for the housing projects at colleges.

That such applications cannot be finalized makes no difference. Employes of the bureau keep their jobs and their pay checks keep coming.

Instances have been cited of bureaus, created during the depression 1930s for specific tasks, still hanging on despite their lost usefulness. Perhaps Parkinson's Law is not a theory at all. It is actually a law as immutable as the laws of the Medes and the Persians.

Inflammatory Fodder, No Less

By Hal Boyle

By HUGH MULLIGAN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—While men dally in barber chairs over male magazine articles on fly-tieing, rhinoceros hunting and love along the lower Zambeze, their wives are at the beauty parlor digesting the insidious inards of the women's magazines.

In the never-cold war between the sexes, this is like pitting the Golden Books for children against the latest training manuals of the Army War College.

The men's periodicals are for escape and relaxation; the women's for deadly serious strategy and ultimate conquest.

What chance does a full-page picture pullout of Anita Ekberg have against a whole phalanx of morally indignant clergymen, psychiatrists and marriage counselors armed to the teeth with handy hints on how to keep the male animal at bay, bring him to heel and keep him from scatching the furniture?

"Are women behind politically?" "How to talk to husbands." "Faced with infidelity, what can the wise wife do?" "Handling alcoholic husbands." "Can this marriage be saved?" "84 ways to make your marriage more exciting."

These are just a few article titles culled from recent issues of arsenals of feminine aggression.

By comparison, the average man's magazine is as toothless as a lion on the library lawn.

The inflammatory fodder fed female readers almost invariably starts with the premise that her husband is at heart a harmless, frisky oaf, given to shedding hair and barking too loud, who can be curried and combed, taught a few tricks, but never will emerge junior grand champion. The whole idea is for the suffering spouse to learn to live with the lout, once he's been taught to obey his master, of course.

The frightening thing is that almost all these articles are written by men.

In "84 ways to make your marriage more exciting," McCall's this month gives the results of a marital brain storming session presided over by a man, William Pleuthner, a vice president at Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn. Here, as number in the article, are some suggestions for husbands: 1. Kiss the back of your wife's neck once a day. 2. Don't always think you have to keep your chin up. Cry a little—she'll love mothering you. 18. Grow a beard. 19. Leave a party when your wife wants to, within an hour or so.

Any guy who goes around with a beard, crying, and kissing his wife's neck is bound to get shut off long before the hour is up at any party I've ever been to.

Someday I hope McCall's or some other female magazine gets around to asking my old infantry first sergeant to pen them a think-piece. He always began target practice sessions with the admonition: "Men, treat these rifles as you would your wife. Wipe 'em off with an oily rag every morning."

That sort of wisdom ought to tilt the odds back in our direction a little.

Cohen Beats Income Tax

By George Sokolsky

We are sending men and supplies to the Far East. Our Marines have been stationed in Lebanon. Our President rejects a letter from Khrushchev. The whole world is worried about war. So "The Saturday Evening Post" publishes the life story of Mickey Cohen and entitles it "The Private Life of a Hood."

What the story brings out is that while Cohen lives in wealth and luxury and carries about a wad o' money, he owes the government of the United States about $512,000 in back income taxes and the government cannot collect.

According to the article, Mickey Cohen has no visible means of support, nevertheless there are a number of Mickey Cohen enterprises. Mickey Cohen only went to prison once and it was for an income tax violation.

"The Saturday Evening Post" article quotes him as saying:

". . .'They shouldn't of done it' . . . 'I done a lot of things, but I never cheated on no tax.' "

According to the same source, Mickey Cohen takes in from $150,000 to $200,000 a year and is spending it but he pays no income tax at all. He says that it is all loans and gifts which is very good if you can get it. I know that the Internal Revenue Service goes over my accounts each year and disallows this and that deduction and comes up with a bill for more dough. Frankly I am envious of one who can live in luxury on loans and gifts and who does not have to pay any income tax.

Mickey Cohen's comment on the subject is quite correct. He says:

". . .'Internal Revenue is making us a nation of cheats. Always snooping. You can't expect Mickey Cohen to go around like a three-dollar-a-day bum. Why should I give them what little money I have when they'll only throw it away on some foreign country?' "

Yeah! But what about the rest of us who do pay our taxes? Why are we also not immune from the rapacity of the Internal Revenue Service? Or what about the honest merchants who put their money in numbered accounts in Switzerland, Panama or Venezuela, or even Monte Carlo, but pay no income taxes anywhere? Or what about the withholding tax on dividends which each broker should withhold on foreign-held securities to protect our revenues? Who gets that money?

Mickey Cohen is a guy who gets away with not paying taxes while the rest of us do pay. He thus becomes a symbol of an important political and social movement in the United States, namely, that citizens are asking why they should pay income taxes while others do not pay and that Congress ought to investigate this entire question.

For instance, here is the caption of a picture in "The Saturday Evening Post":

"The notorious Mickey Cohen (above, in front of the flashy apartment house in which he lives) with his $15,000 Cadillac. He owes the government about $512,000 in back taxes, but says he can't pay."

Well, that is a cold statement of fact, just as this is a cold statement of fact:

". . .He is taking in from $150,000 to $200,000 a year and spending it, but because the money is obtained by an ingenious Mickey Cohen invention —a pyramid of loans and gifts— he pays no income tax at all. . ."

Now, $150,000 to $200,000 a year is a lot of money and who is it that lends and gives gifts to that amount each year? Great charities, such as the Cancer Drive or the Heart Fund have to work unbelievably hard to collect that much money, even though giving to them in deductible. But here is a man who performs no ostensible useful service to mankind, who can borrow or receive gifts to the amount of $150,000 or $200,000 a year and make it stick so that he pays no income tax.

Such free loaders are in a class apart. They are the privileged few. They are the elite. They can keep their money and set up estates for their children. They can save each year and make investments. They do not fear that just as they are about to start on some enterprise, the Internal Revenue Univac will discover that they earned 69 cents more than was accounted for and that that puts them in higher brackets.

TESTS FAUBUS LAW—Mrs. Gertie Garrett, of Little Rock, Ark., although admitting she is a segregationist, has filed a suit against Gov. Orval Faubus to test the law he used to close four high schools in the city. Legal sources say the suit may prevent the Federal government from making their own immediate test of the law.

Old Milk Adages Junked

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Will drinking milk while eating oysters or fish poison a person? How about a combination of milk and spinach, milk and lemons or milk taken with tomatoes?

In this enlightened age, it is difficult to realize that some persons still think such combinations of food and drink are poisonous. If you can eat two foods separately, you can eat them together without harm.

I suppose the tale about fish and milk being a sickening combination began before the days of refrigeration. Then, a person might have eaten fish that was not fresh and might have happened to drink milk at the same meal.

You only have to use a bit of logic to see how silly this idea of fish and milk being poisonous really is. After all, oyster stew and fish chowder are both made with milk. Many persons also eat fish with cream sauce.

There also are many other misconceptions about milk.

Some persons believe milk is constipating. Again, this is a fallacy.

Milk, in itself, is not constipating. However, a person who drinks abnormally large quantities of milk may not eat enough bulk foods to supply the needed requirements. If a constipated person gets enough crude fiber from his other foods, it is perfectly all right for him to drink milk.

Many persons have misconceptions about pasteurized and homogenized milk.

For example, they may think that the cream is removed from pasteurized milk. Or they may believe that homogenized milk contains more cream than whole milk or that it contains no fat.

Let's set them straight.

Raw milk and whole pasteurized milk have the same fat content. The cream is not removed in pasteurized milk, neither is it removed in homogenized milk.

Homogenized milk, of course, is whole milk in which the fat particles have been broken into small globules that are unable to rise to the top of the container as "cream." Instead, they remain distributed evenly throughout the milk. While this may seem to make homogenized milk richer, the fat content remains the same.

Question and Answer

Q.: What could be the cause of a 10-year-old child's sudden development of an attitude of indifference to eating?

A.: If a physical examination has ruled out any organic disturbance, psychological counseling and guidance may prove helpful.

The World Today

By James Marlow

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP News Analyst

The American public — to say nothing of the rest of the free world—must be getting more and more confused as the debate over Formosa proceeds along its fog-bound course.

First, Secretary of State Dulles tells the American public that if a dependable cease-fire could be achieved in the Formosa Strait, it would be foolish for Chiang Kai-shek to keep so many Nationalist troops on offshore islands hugging the China mainland. Chiang has an estimated 100,000 there now.

President Eisenhower follows this up by saying that if there is a cease-fire, there will be an opportunity to "negotiate in good faith."

The President denies Dulles' remarks indicate appeasement. And he warns that the United States cannot retreat before force without suffering for it.

What is retreat? What is appeasement?

According to Webster's, appeasement is the act of appeasing, and to appease means "to reduce to a state of peace, to pacify, often by satisfying demands, hence to make quiet or calm."

A retreat, says Webster's, is "the act of retiring or withdrawing from what is dangerous or disagreeable."

It seems safe to assume Secretary Dulles' remarks indicated the United States would not be averse to a situation in which it was committed to the defense of no more than Formosa and the Pescadores, as the outposts of the free world's western Pacific positions.

To this, the President adds the thought that if —a big "if"—the offshore islands should be demilitarized, it is possible "we could get somewhere."

Is this a U.S. attempt to withdraw from a position which is dangerous or disagreeable? Does it mean that pouring American supplies into the offshore islands is useless? Is this being suggested in the face of force? Is it, in fact, retreat? And if it is, will the United States, as the President says, be bound to suffer by it?

When force, violent enough to raise a real threat of international war, is applied by Peiping, U.S. policy statements openly suggest Chiang's forces never should have been on the offshore islands. The United States now is hopefully exploring prospects for cease-fire and negotiation. But negotiation suggests there is something that can be negotiated, something to be offered.

The juxtaposition of all these ideas hints the United States is studiously seeking ways to calm a dangerous situation. By tossing the prospect of demilitarization into the hopper, the United States, regardless of Chiang's furious reaction, cautiously raises the hope that Red China might get the offshore islands eventually without risking a war of annihilation.

Is this an attempt to "reduce to a state of peace, to pacify, to make quiet or calm?" Is it, in fact, appeasement?

Perhaps administration thinking has reached the point where it is not too far removed from that of Democratic leader Adlai Stevenson. Perhaps it is ready to regard the islands close to the China coast as a mainland matter and is thinking in terms of a Formosan state.

In the name of nationalism, which all Communists profess to admire so deeply, a Formosan state, ruled by Formosans, might be politically defensible.

The big question would be: What would be done with Chiang Kai-shek?

Chiang must be wondering too.

National Debt Real Problem

That the national debt, now about $280 billion and going higher, is an increasingly vital factor in American life, is shown by the fact that there is "only" $3 billion cash in the federal treasury, some urgent borrowing is just ahead, and there is the necessity of refunding $100 billion of the debt in the next year.

The government's spending pace is accented by the fact that the $3 billion on hand will last only two weeks. Older adults can remember when the first "billion dollar Congress" caused wide talk. Now a billion dollars doesn't last a week.

The Treasury tried earnestly to put a large part of the debt on a long term basis. But it was competing with the bond offerings of state and local governments and private industry. There isn't enough long term private investment for all.

Inflation fears have caused many investors to sell or borrow on their government paper to obtain cash for investments with higher earning and increment prospects. This restricts the government borrowing field, outside the banks, still more.

Higher interest rates seem certain for the government. Some private companies are now marketing bonds at 4½ per cent. Should such a rate finally be applied to the national debt of $280 billion, it would put the annual interest bill above $12 billion a year.

But the worst aspect of it is that the growing national debt is already too competitive with the private enterprise system that makes America tick. Its assimilation will get no simpler as it grows in size.

Bureaucracy Grows Despite Need

Parkinson's Law is a theory, based on research for a century or more, that bureaucracy grows regardless of whether its personnel has necessary work to do. If the work load lessens, keep the same old force or even increase it. And if there is no authorization for a bureau, do not disband it until absolutely necessary.

Washington observers cite an instance supporting the theory. Congress adjourned without voting funds for college housing programs. But the Housing and Home Finance Administration, the bureau that would handle such funds if they were available, went on accepting and processing applications for the housing projects at colleges.

That such applications cannot be finalized makes no difference. Employes of the bureau keep their jobs and their pay checks keep coming.

Instances have been cited of bureaus, created during the depression 1930s for specific tasks, still hanging on despite their lost usefulness. Perhaps Parkinson's Law is not a theory at all. It is actually a law as immutable as the laws of the Medes and the Persians.

Inflammatory Fodder, No Less

By Hal Boyle

By HUGH MULLIGAN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—While men dally in barber chairs over male magazine articles on fly-tieing, rhinoceros hunting and love along the lower Zambeze, their wives are at the beauty parlor digesting the insidious inards of the women's magazines.

In the never-cold war between the sexes, this is like pitting the Golden Books for children against the latest training manuals of the Army War College.

The men's periodicals are for escape and relaxation; the women's for deadly serious strategy and ultimate conquest.

What chance does a full-page picture pullout of Anita Ekberg have against a whole phalanx of morally indignant clergymen, psychiatrists and marriage counselors armed to the teeth with handy hints on how to keep the male animal at bay, bring him to heel and keep him from scatching the furniture?

"Are women behind politically?" "How to talk to husbands." "Faced with infidelity, what can the wise wife do?" "Handling alcoholic husbands." "Can this marriage be saved?" "84 ways to make your marriage more exciting."

These are just a few article titles culled from recent issues of arsenals of feminine aggression.

By comparison, the average man's magazine is as toothless as a lion on the library lawn.

The inflammatory fodder fed female readers almost invariably starts with the premise that her husband is at heart a harmless, frisky oaf, given to shedding hair and barking too loud, who can be curried and combed, taught a few tricks, but never will emerge junior grand champion. The whole idea is for the suffering spouse to learn to live with the lout, once he's been taught to obey his master, of course.

The frightening thing is that almost all these articles are written by men.

In "84 ways to make your marriage more exciting," McCall's this month gives the results of a marital brain storming session presided over by a man, William Pleuthner, a vice president at Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn. Here, as number in the article, are some suggestions for husbands: 1. Kiss the back of your wife's neck once a day. 2. Don't always think you have to keep your chin up. Cry a little—she'll love mothering you. 18. Grow a beard. 19. Leave a party when your wife wants to, within an hour or so.

Any guy who goes around with a beard, crying, and kissing his wife's neck is bound to get shut off long before the hour is up at any party I've ever been to.

Someday I hope McCall's or some other female magazine gets around to asking my old infantry first sergeant to pen them a thinkpiece. He always began target practice sessions with the admonition: "Men, treat these rifles as you would your wife. Wipe 'em off with an oily rag every morning."

That sort of wisdom ought to tilt the odds back in our direction a little.

Cohen Beats Income Tax

By George Sokolsky

We are sending men and supplies to the Far East. Our Marines have been stationed in Lebanon. Our President rejects a letter from Khrushchev. The whole world is worried about war. So "The Saturday Evening Post" publishes the life story of Mickey Cohen and entitles it "The Private Life of a Hood."

What the story brings out is that while Cohen lives in wealth and luxury and carries about a wad o' money, he owes the government of the United States about $512,000 in back income taxes and the government cannot collect.

According to the article, Mickey Cohen has no visible means of support, nevertheless there are a number of Mickey Cohen enterprises. Mickey Cohen only went to prison once and it was for an income tax violation.

"The Saturday Evening Post" article quotes him as saying:

". . .'They shouldn't of done it' . . . 'I done a lot of things, but I never cheated on no tax.' "

According to the same source, Mickey Cohen takes in from $150,000 to $200,000 a year and is spending it but he pays no income tax at all. He says that it is all loans and gifts which is very good if you can get it. I know that the Internal Revenue Service goes over my accounts each year and disallows this and that deduction and comes up with a bill for more dough. Frankly I am envious of one who can live in luxury on loans and gifts and who does not have to pay any income tax.

Mickey Cohen's comment on the subject is quite correct. He says:

". . .'Internal Revenue is making us a nation of cheats. Always snooping. You can't expect Mickey Cohen to go around like a three-dollar-a-day bum. Why should I give them what little money I have when they'll only throw it away on some foreign country?' "

Yeah! But what about the rest of us who do pay our taxes? Why are we also not immune from the rapacity of the Internal Revenue Service? Or what about the honest merchants who put their money in numbered accounts in Switzerland, Panama or Venezuela, or even Monte Carlo, but pay no income taxes anywhere? Or what about the withholding tax on dividends which each broker should withhold on foreign-held securities to protect our revenues? Who gets that money?

Mickey Cohen is a guy who gets away with not paying taxes while the rest of us do pay. He thus becomes a symbol of an important political and social movement in the United States, namely, that citizens are asking why they should pay income taxes while others do not pay and that Congress ought to investigate this entire question.

For instance, here is the caption of a picture in "The Saturday Evening Post":

"The notorious Mickey Cohen (above, in front of the flashy apartment house in which he lives) with his $15,000 Cadillac. He owes the government about $512,000 in back taxes, but says he can't pay."

Well, that is a cold statement of fact, just as this is a cold statement of fact:

". . .He is taking in from $150,000 to $200,000 a year and spending it, but because the money is obtained by an ingenious Mickey Cohen invention —a pyramid of loans and gifts— he pays no income tax at all. . ."

Now, $150,000 to $200,000 a year is a lot of money and who is it that lends and gives gifts to that amount each year? Great charities, such as the Cancer Drive or the Heart Fund have to work unbelievably hard to collect that much money, even though giving to them in deductible. But here is a man who performs no ostensible useful service to mankind, who can borrow or receive gifts to the amount of $150,000 or $200,000 a year and make it stick so that he pays no income tax.

Such free loaders are in a class apart. They are the privileged few. They are the elite. They can keep their money and set up estates for their children. They can save each year and make investments. They do not fear that just as they are about to start on some enterprise, the Internal Revenue Univac will discover that they earned 69 cents more than was accounted for and that that puts them in higher brackets.

The American public — to say nothing of the rest of the free world—must be getting more and more confused as the debate over Formosa proceeds along its fog-bound course.

First, Secretary of State Dulles tells the American public that if a dependable cease-fire could be achieved in the Formosa Strait, it would be foolish for Chiang Kai-shek to keep so many Nationalist troops on offshore islands hugging the China mainland. Chiang has an estimated 100,000 there now.

President Eisenhower follows this up by saying that if there is a cease-fire, there will be an opportunity to "negotiate in good faith."

The President denies Dulles' remarks indicate appeasement. And he warns that the United States cannot retreat before force without suffering for it.

What is retreat? What is appeasement?

According to Webster's, appeasement is the act of appeasing, and to appease means "to reduce to a state of peace, to pacify, often by satisfying demands, hence to make quiet or calm."

A retreat, says Webster's, is "the act of retiring or withdrawing from what is dangerous or disagreeable."

It seems safe to assume Secretary Dulles' remarks indicated the United States would not be averse to a situation in which it was committed to the defense of no more than Formosa and the Pescadores, as the outposts of the free world's western Pacific positions.

To this, the President adds the thought that if —a big "if"—the offshore islands should be demilitarized, it is possible "we could get somewhere."

Is this a U.S. attempt to withdraw from a position which is dangerous or disagreeable? Does it mean that pouring American supplies into the offshore islands is useless? Is this being suggested in the face of force? Is it, in fact, retreat? And if it is, will the United States, as the President says, be bound to suffer by it?

When force, violent enough to raise a real threat of international war, is applied by Peiping, U.S. policy statements openly suggest Chiang's forces never should have been on the offshore islands. The United States now is hopefully exploring prospects for cease-fire and negotiation. But negotiation suggests there is something that can be negotiated, something to be offered.

The juxtaposition of all these ideas hints the United States is studiously seeking ways to calm a dangerous situation. By tossing the prospect of demilitarization into the hopper, the United States, regardless of Chiang's furious reaction, cautiously raises the hope that Red China might get the offshore islands eventually without risking a war of annihilation.

Is this an attempt to "reduce to a state of peace, to pacify, to make quiet or calm?" Is it, in fact, appeasement?

Perhaps administration thinking has reached the point where it is not too far removed from that of Democratic leader Adlai Stevenson. Perhaps it is ready to regard the islands close to the China coast as a mainland matter and is thinking in terms of a Formosan state.

In the name of nationalism, which all Communists profess to admire so deeply, a Formosan state, ruled by Formosans, might be politically defensible.

The big question would be: What would be done with Chiang Kai-shek?

Chiang must be wondering too.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Several years ago I met and became friendly with a married man. At first we shared all sorts of casual interests but, as time went by, our association became an affair.

Erwin (I'll call him) told me about his 10 years' unhappy marriage and how much he had always hoped to meet a girl like me. I know that he was sincere. I guess even the best of us can do wrong. I should have side-stepped a married man. I just don't know if it is sympathy or love, when you care enough to fill in where needed; but that is what I did.

Eventually I became pregnant and at that time, Erwin discussed divorce with his wife, who flatly refused. She said if he ever "made a wrong move" she would expose the whole story to "the proper people." Later, the pregnancy was terminated by natural cause (as I am not very strong), and this cleared up a lot of difficulty.

Erwin and I had long discussions thereafter and decided to part; but the separation was of short duration. Erwin returned to me and said he would find a way to freedom, regardless. That was long ago; and meanwhile I've met a builder from the West. It came as a surprise when he proposed marriage, as I never considered him more than a friend, although he is very fond of me. I like him too, but I'm not in love.

I am somewhat confused. I really love Erwin; but he is still stalling for time, and I am getting older by the day. Meanwhile my desire to have my own home, and a truly private life, is increasing. Should I relinquish love; and hope that marriage to this builder (whose intentions are sincere) will be the formula for a better life?

F.C.

DEAR F.C.: Who knows? Maybe this builder is the agent of Providence, offering you a helping hand, to escape the pitfall into which you stumbled long ago, betrayed by mistaken sympathy; and in which you have since remained, unable to rescue yourself.

As for not being in love with your suitor, just remember you weren't in love with Erwin either, in the beginning. And possibly you aren't in love with him now, but captive, rather, to the bondage of sin—a fate that Scripture foretells for those who accommodate themselves to wrong-doing.

In any case, you were merely friends with Erwin at first; and drifted into an affair, due to propinquity and indiscretion, I suppose, after which the unhappy attachment developed.

In marriage to a good man, you might find sunshine of heart again, and recognize, in contrast, that your liaison with Erwin had been a nightmare, comparatively.

Ailing Baby Dies after Lengthy Trip

LAKEVIEW, Ore. (AP) — Little Craig Williams died Wednesday after being separated three days from his parents on a long automobile trip across five states.

Death came, said a doctor, because the 2-month-old child failed to respond to treatment for a condition caused by premature birth.

But the doctor said that the frail, weak child also had been unable to withstand the effects of the long trip.

The trip began in Slick Rock, Colo., when the infants' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Williams, set off for Lakeview.

Making the trip with them, in another car, was James Shelton, a bachelor.

The baby was put in the Shelton car, because it had a better heater. The two vehicles later became separated during the trip.

The Williams car pushed on for Lakeview, thinking it was trailing Shelton. But Shelton for a time held back, thinking he was ahead. Finally, he drove on to Lakeview and found the child's parents. The baby was rushed into an incubator and was given special treatment—but it died a few hours later.

Williams came here to get a job as a miner.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bewildering variety of meat specials awaits weekend shoppers in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores. Housewives can take comfort, however, from a still-lengthy list of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Pending expected lower prices for beef and prok, features this week include such unusual items as rabbits, rock Cornish game hens, Long Island ducklings and the like.

A few stores offer smoked ham or turkey, but old standbys such as sirloin steak, chuck roast, leg of lamb and frying chickens are comparatively rare. Sausage meat is on the bargain list in some places.

The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries looks for a generally high level of supplies of fresh and frozen fish and shellfish this month. Shellfish should be in good supply.

Several varieties of cheese are in good supply now. Many of the famous foreign types of cheese now are manufactured in this country under scientifically controlled conditions.

Egg prices are off 2 to 10 cents a dozen in many places.

Best bets in vegetable bins are cabbage, potatoes, endive, escarole, peppers, spinach, tomatoes (especially the plum type), brussels sprouts, radishes, chard and the so-called cooking greens such as kollard and kale. Celery, iceberg lettuce, sweet potatoes, snap beans, eggplant, cucumbers, squash and onions also are good buys.

Bartlett pears join apples on the best buy list among fruits. Prunes and Concord grapes are good buys.

Ex-Inmate Accused in Girl's Death

COVINGTON, Ky (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Gerald R. (Jerry) Kuhn, high school football reservist and onetime Kentucky Reformatory inmate, was free on bond today on a voluntary manslaughter charge in the death of Carol Lyons, 15-year-old divorcee.

A warrant signed by detective chief Albert Seiter charged Kuhn with "striking" the girl "about the face and choking her so as to cause her death."

Kuhn, who police said, carried the girl into her home early Wednesday morning after a protracted round of stops at bars here and in nearby Cincinnati, appeared voluntarily at police headquarters after an eight-hour stakeout of his home. He was accompanied by his attorney, Daniel J. Goodenough and refused to answer any questions.

The girl was unconscious when Kuhn placed her on a couch in her home, Seiter said. Efforts to revive her failed.

An autopsy disclosed, coroner Dr. E. L. Smith reported, that death resulted from "some respiratory block in the neck region." Seiter said the girl also bore bruises on her wrists and ankles as if she had been tied with a rope. These the youth refused to explain, nor would he give any reason for deep scratches on his face and forehead, Seiter reported.

Kuhn had been under parole to his parents since December 1956 when he was released after serving a term in a Kentucky reformatory on charges of grand larceny and possessing stolen property. Lt. R. E. Kampsen said the Lyons girl was the subject of a missing persons report last December.

The girl married Harold McCarthy in Lawrenceburg, Ind., last November 30—she was 14 at the time—and was divorced here seven months later, on June 30, court records showed.

Ailing Baby Dies after Lengthy Trip

LAKEVIEW, Ore. (AP) — Little Craig Williams died Wednesday after being separated three days from his parents on a long automobile trip across five states.

Death came, said a doctor, because the 2-month-old child failed to respond to treatment for a condition caused by premature birth.

But the doctor said that the frail, weak child also had been unable to withstand the effects of the long trip.

The trip began in Slick Rock, Colo., when the infants' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis Williams, set off for Lakeview.

Making the trip with them, in another car, was James Shelton, a bachelor.

The baby was put in the Shelton car, because it had a better heater. The two vehicles later became separated during the trip.

The Williams car pushed on for Lakeview, thinking it was trailing Shelton. But Shelton for a time held back, thinking he was ahead. Finally, he drove on to Lakeview and found the child's parents. The baby was rushed into an incubator and was given special treatment—but it died a few hours later.

Williams came here to get a job as a miner.

Weeky Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bewildering variety of meat specials awaits weekend shoppers in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood grocery stores. Housewives can take comfort, however, from a still-lengthy list of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Pending expected lower prices for beef and prok, features this week include such unusual items as rabbits, rock Cornish game hens, Long Island ducklings and the like.

A few stores offer smoked ham or turkey, but old standbys such as sirloin steak, chuck roast, leg of lamb and frying chickens are comparatively rare. Sausage meat is on the bargain list in some places.

The U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries looks for a generally high level of supplies of fresh and frozen fish and shellfish this month. Shellfish should be in good supply.

Several varieties of cheese are in good supply now. Many of the famous foreign types of cheese now are manufactured in this country under scientifically controlled conditions.

Egg prices are off 2 to 10 cents a dozen in many places.

Best bets in vegetable bins are cabbage, potatoes, endive, escarole, peppers, spinach, tomatoes (especially the plum type), brussels sprouts, radishes, chard and the so-called cooking greens such as kollard and kale. Celery, iceberg lettuce, sweet potatoes, snap beans, eggplant, cucumbers, squash and onions also are good buys.

Bartlett pears join apples on the best buy list among fruits. Prunes and Concord grapes are good buys.

Ex-Inmate Accused in Girl's Death

COVINGTON, Ky (AP) — Nineteen-year-old Gerald R. (Jerry) Kuhn, high school football reservist and onetime Kentucky Reformatory inmate, was free on bond today on a voluntary manslaughter charge in the death of Carol Lyons, 15-year-old divorcee.

A warrant signed by detective chief Albert Seiter charged Kuhn with "striking" the girl "about the face and choking her so as to cause her death."

Kuhn, who police said, carried the girl into her home early Wednesday morning after a protracted round of stops at bars here and in nearby Cincinnati, appeared voluntarily at police headquarters after an eight-hour stakeout of his home. He was accompanied by his attorney, Daniel J. Goodenough and refused to answer any questions.

The girl was unconscious when Kuhn placed her on a couch in her home, Seiter said. Efforts to revive her failed.

An autopsy disclosed, coroner Dr. E. L. Smith reported, that death resulted from "some respiratory block in the neck region." Seiter said the girl also bore bruises on her wrists and ankles as if she had been tied with a rope. These the youth refused to explain, nor would he give any reason for deep scratches on his face and forehead, Seiter reported.

Lucky Find

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A gold bracelet was lost in Tulsa by Mrs. C. C. Rogers who gave up hope of having it returned, but she advertised in a newspaper anyway.

Three days later she received a telephone call from a town 200 miles away. The caller told her she had found the bracelet and had read of its loss in the Tulsa paper.

Kuhn had been under parole to his parents since December 1956 when he was released after serving a term in a Kentucky reformatory on charges of grand larceny and possessing stolen property. Lt. R. E. Kampsen said the Lyons girl was the subject of a missing persons report last December.

The girl married Harold McCarthy in Lawrenceburg, Ind., last November 30—she was 14 at the time—and was divorced here seven months later, on June 30, court records showed.

Use Make-Up to Hide Sad Sacks Under Eyes

THE MIRROR doesn't reflect under-eye circles because she used very pale cake make-up to lighten and "fill" them.

By JEANNE D'ARCY

"I'm sporting the sack look," writes a reader, "but its under each eye. I have deep dark circles. What can I do about them?"

First thing to do is find out their cause.

If you've been keeping late hours, burning that midnight oil, don't ask silly questions. Lack of sleep makes under-eyes baggy and dark.

But, if you've been hitting the pillow for eight hours of sound sleep each night, there's some other reason.

Eyestrain can cause dark under-eye circles. Been doing heavy reading or engaging in a great deal of close work, such as embroidery? If so, better give eyes a rest.

When you do have to read or handle some other task that's hard on the eyes, make sure light is right. Don't work in a glare or settle down in the shadows. Occasionally, look up from your work and gaze into space or blink your eyes. It will give eyes relief.

If the trouble continues, an eye checkup would be a good idea. If you don't wear glasses, they may be needed. If you do sport specs, perhaps your prescription needs to be changed.

A health condition can cause dark circles, so consult your doctor if you don't feel tiptop.

It's also possible they mean nothing at all. With some women, they're just natural. We know one girl who insists she was born with dark under-eye sacks as an infant.

As for toning them down, use make-up for camouflage. There's a light-colored touchup stick on the market that will minimize them them more than somewhat. You can achieve the same effect by using a light foundation — lighter than you use on the rest of your face — over the circles. Either stick or make-up will create an optional illusion, not only lighten but seem to fill out the hollows that are such beauty horrors.

Reception Enjoyed by Women's Group

A membership reception was held by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church last night in the social rooms of the church. Approximately 35 members were present.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford, president, presided. The group made plans to adopt a foreign child.

A special feature was given by Mrs. Larry Graham and daughter, Kim. Kim presented a piano solo and also sang a duet with her mother.

Misses Cheryl Evans and Diane Johnson reported on their week at girls school which was held June 22-27th. The theme for the school was "One World for Christ." The school is sponsored by the WSCS.

Mrs. Boyd Stout conducted a memorial service for Mrs. Wellington Stout, Mrs. George Haswell and Mrs. Harry Clifton.

The program was a panel discussion entitled "Faith with Work's—The Local Church." Mrs. Graham was the moderator; Mrs. Tom Bennett, Mrs. Willing; Mrs. Glenn Snyder, Mrs. Doubtful and Mrs. Walter Heine, Mrs. Experience.

Cake Donated

The Lindsey Bakery presented Oscar Bumgarner with the decorated birthday cake.

Give grapefruit halves a pretty touch: center each with a few cubes or red jelly, a maraschino cherry and a spring of fresh mint, or a round of peeled orange.

If there's a butter compartment in your refrigerator, keep only the amount of butter there that you'll use in a couple of days.

Be an epicure! Leave both heads and tails on small fish to be baked for added flavor and, when you get used to it, fine appearance!

DUV Plans Tuesday Meeting

The Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the post room of Memorial Hall.

100 Guests Attend Benefit Bridge Party

Mrs. E. W. Hedges, president of the Child Conservation League greeted over 100 guests last evening at the Benefit Bridge Party held at the Elks. The entire affair was a huge success which will enable the League to make a sizeable contribution to the Lowery Lane Mission which is the special interest of the members.

After the card playing, refreshments were served. There was a delicious assortment of pies that were baked by the members. Mrs. Emory Ridlon auctioned off several homemade cakes and pies and three cakes were given away as door prizes. These were won by Martha Mary Bowers, Lee Garey and Laura Hutzelman.

Bridge and Canasta were played and the prize winners are as follows: Bridge — Helen Higgins, Louise Roth and Jean Brudzinski Canasta — Enid Denham, Jessie Cummings and Virginia Fuller.

All the members and particularly the functioning committees are to be complimented on having such a successful party.

Household Hints

Good at any time of the year: Drained canned peach halves stuffed with mincemeat and baked, then served hot with whipped cream.

Pack sherbet into a mold and replace in freezer. To unmold, wrap the mold round with a towel that's been wrung out of hot water for a few seconds, then shake out sherbet.

Lemon-flavored pudding and pie filling of the instant variety may be used to fill and frost an eight or nine-inch white or yellow layer cake. Good to remember when you are in a hurry!

Installation Held by Garden Club

Installation of officers was held when the Commercial Point Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Beers recently. Mrs. William Rush was assisting hostess.

Mrs. Harold Gulick was the installing officer. New officers for the year are: Mrs. Guy Gulick, president; Mrs. Rush, vice-president; Mrs. Ralph Phillips, treasurer and Mrs. Walter Writsel, secretary.

Mrs. Carl Gulick gave a report and the score of the yearbook and scrapbook. Miss Elsie Haughn and Janet Haughn were accepted as new members to the club.

Mrs. Guy Gulick gave a report from the State Convention which was held at Bowling Green.

One of the civic projects for the year will be selling litter bags. Plans were made for the next meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. James Crawford with Mrs. Rush in charge.

The flower show for the evening was "Fall." Any line arrangement using mums. Foliage was permitted. Mrs. Guy Gulick received first and Mrs. Beers, second.

Each member displayed a table setting with an arrangement using unusual materials. Mrs. Edward R. Ray reviewed Julia S. Berral's book on "table setting with additional information."

The following dates were reported: October 8-11th, Fairfield Garden Club, Fairfield County Show to be held at the Fairgrounds in Lancaster; October 23rd, Federation of Southwest District, open meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. in New Rome.

The Federation of Pickaway County Garden Club will meet at 1 p. m. November 12th at Williamsport. An outstanding arranger will demonstrate the "making of Holiday Arrangements."

The Annual Fairfield Garden Club Holiday Show will be held December 4-5th at Rising House, Lancaster.

Use Make-Up to Hide Sad Sacks Under Eyes

THE MIRROR doesn't reflect under-eye circles because she used very pale cake make-up to lighten and "fill" them.

By JEANNE D'ARCY

"I'm sporting the sack look," writes a reader, "but its under each eye. I have deep dark circles. What can I do about them?"

First thing to do is find out their cause.

If you've been keeping late hours, burning that midnight oil, don't ask silly questions. Lack of sleep makes under-eyes baggy and dark.

But, if you've been hitting the pillow for eight hours of sound sleep each night, there's some other reason.

Eyestrain can cause dark under-eye circles. Been doing heavy reading or engaging in a great deal of close work, such as embroidery? If so, better give eyes a rest.

When you do have to read or handle some other task that's hard on the eyes, make sure light is right. Don't work in a glare or settle down in the shadows. Occasionally, look up from your work and gaze into space or blink your eyes. It will give eyes relief.

If the trouble continues, an eye checkup would be a good idea. If you don't wear glasses, they may be needed. If you do sport specs, perhaps your prescription needs to be changed.

A health condition can cause dark circles, so consult your doctor if you don't feel tiptop.

It's also possible they mean nothing at all. With some women, they're just natural. We know one girl who insists she was born with dark under-eye sacks as an infant.

As for toning them down, use make-up for camouflage. There's a light-colored touchup stick on the market that will minimize them them more than somewhat. You can achieve the same effect by using a light foundation — lighter than you use on the rest of your face — over the circles. Either stick or make-up will create an optional illusion, not only lighten but seem to fill out the hollows that are such beauty horrors.

Reception Enjoyed by Women's Group

A membership reception was held by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church last night in the social rooms of the church. Approximately 35 members were present.

Mrs. Roliff Wolford, president, presided. The group made plans to adopt a foreign child.

A special feature was given by Mrs. Larry Graham and daughter, Kim. Kim presented a piano solo and also sang a duet with her mother.

Misses Cheryl Evans and Diane Johnson reported on their week at girls school which was held June 22-27th. The theme for the school was "One World for Christ." The school is sponsored by the WSCS.

Mrs. Boyd Stout conducted a memorial service for Mrs. Wellington Stout, Mrs. George Haswell and Mrs. Harry Clifton.

The program was a panel discussion entitled "Faith with Work's—The Local Church." Mrs. Graham was the moderator; Mrs. Tom Bennett, Mrs. Willing; Mrs. Glenn Snyder, Mrs. Doubtful and Mrs. Walter Heine, Mrs. Experience.

Cake Donated

The Lindsey Bakery presented Oscar Bumgarner with the decorated birthday cake.

Give grapefruit halves a pretty touch: center each with a few cubes or red jelly, a maraschino cherry and a spring of fresh mint, or a round of peeled orange.

If there's a butter compartment in your refrigerator, keep only the amount of butter there that you'll use in a couple of days.

Be an epicure! Leave both heads and tails on small fish to be baked for added flavor and, when you get used to it, fine appearance!

Old Line GOP Maps Strategy

Plan Bared To Block 'Modern' Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Old line party members are maneuvering quietly to block any "Modern Republican" from capturing the GOP Senate leadership for years to come.

This is the aim of influential members who have little enthusiasm for President Eisenhower's ideas of modernizing the party viewpoint. They have laid plans they hope will accomplish this result when a new floor leader is chosen to succeed retiring Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif).

Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill), a vigorous supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), probably will move into Knowland's command position without challenge. All-out Eisenhower supporters hoped to place one of their number in the line of succession as party whip, the post Dirksen will be vacating.

However, Chairman Styles Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee is expected to propose that the leadership base be broadened by the addition of an assistant leader, as well as the whip.

While Bridges is not talking about who might fill such an assistant's post, there was immediate speculation it would go to one of the conservative Republicans.

In this connection, the names of Senators John W. Bricker of Ohio, Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska were mentioned among others.

Traditionally, Senate Republicans have picked their floor leader by promotion.

If the leadership base is expanded, there is some expectation that a modern Republican might get the whip assignment in the interests of outward party harmony. But his chance at the top job would be lessened because of the intervening assistant leadership.

The trading floor of the New York Sock Exchange is about two-thirds as large as a fooball field.

U.S. Laundryman Cleans Up With His Show in Moscow

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Romaine Fielding's plan to show off a U.S. laundry at a Moscow fair went down the drain. But he cleaned up in the Soviet Union anyway.

Fielding, a 38-year-old dealer in laundry equipment, flew home to Los Angeles to await arrival of $30,137.

Where's the money coming from? The Russians.

"It all started as a potential tax-free junket to Russia," Fielding said. "I heard there was to be an American trade fair there and signed up for a laundry exhibit. Then I gathered together four accounts to supply the machinery and put everything aboard a ship bound for Helsinki, Finland."

Fielding's laundry was still on the high seas when he got news the Moscow fair had been called off. He went on anyway and made a deal to demonstrate his equipment at a Moscow housing project.

"We couldn't put up one of the modern type American laundries," he said, "but we took over a basement and hung out a sign. Practically everyone high in Russian circles except Khrushchev and his Cabinet visited our exhibit. They all marveled at the speed with which our American machines worked, especially the shirt-pressing equipment."

Fielding's laundry had been cranking away for about two weeks when a Moscow city Soviet official approached him and asked what he'd take for the works. He named his price and that was it.

Everyone was happy except Mrs. Fielding. While her husband dazzled the Soviets with Yankee washing machines, she did their personal laundry by hand.

The Mail Bag

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP)—Mail service to Nogales has attorney James V. Robins puzzled.

He received two letters the same day. One was from Copenhagen, Denmark, mailed just three days before. The other was from Tucson —some 60 miles away— mailed a week before.

PLAY WASN'T THE THING — Here's Margaret Truman as "Katie" in "Autumn Crocus" in her first Chicago stage appearance. The critics' comments weren't encouraging, but were leveled mostly against the play. Said one, "'Autumn Crocus' croaked," added Margaret was given a "24-second ovation."

GI Deserter Due To Gain Freedom

VERDUN, France (AP) — Pvt. Wayne Powers, the Chillicothe, Mo., GI, who hid out for 14 years in his French girl friend's home after deserting during the war, will be released from prison Oct. 9, the Army announced today.

He will have served a little more than two months of the six-month sentence imposed after he pleaded guilty before an Army court-martial to a desertion charge.

During his hiding in the little village of Mont d'Origny in northern France, Powers fathered five children by Yvette Beleuse. Miss Beleuse supported the family by working in a textile mill while Powers stayed home and did the housework.

Car Hopper

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A grasshopper made the Denver police blotter.

Angelina Janzen told police a grasshopper nipped her on the knee while she waited for a traffic light. She said she took her foot off the brake and her car rammed into the rear of another vehicle.

Officer William R. O'Hayre charged Mrs. Janzen with careless driving.

Iraq Premier Woos Peasants

Land Reform Program Ordered by Chieftain

CAIRO (AP) — Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq is reported to have moved to consolidate peasant backing for his revolutionary regime with a land reshuffle while removing a potential rival.

The Middle East News Agency, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, said in a dispatch from Baghdad that Kassem had announced the land program in a broadcast.

Kassem said the plan would free Iraqi peasants from feudal domination, the agency reported. The government will break up big land holdings during the next five years.

Big landlords were a bulwark of the royal government of the late Premier Nuri Said which Kassem overthrew July 14.

The No. 2 man in the revolt and the new republican regime, Brig. Abdul Salam Arif, has been relieved of his post as deputy premier, the news agency said. Arif has been named ambassador to Germany.

No reason for the demotion and, in effect, banishment of Arif was given. There have, however, been rumors of difference between him and Kassem. News from Baghdad is censored.

Arif has been believed advocating close Iraqi ties with President Nasser's U.A.R. while Kassem's public actions indicate an intention to maintain a separate course within the over-all pattern of Arab unity.

Without indicating at whom his remarks were aimed, Kassem said in his reported broadcast: "I consider it my duty to reaffirm that I and the revolutionary government will be on the lookout for anyone who tries to hinder the work on the path to revolutionary aims."

Land redistribution is the principal basis for building social reform, Kassem was quoted as saying.

STRAW HAT CIRCUIT—Getting ready for a winter vacation in Miami, singer Jane Morgan selected several straw hats which, the Millinery Institute of America says, are fashionable, comfortable and practical for beach wear. The giraffe straw (above) came from the Caribbean islands. At the right (top to bottom) are a "boater" from the Gay 90s; a creation made of a stack of straws; a coolie. (Central Press)

Bruised Lochinvar

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—The cost of defending his wife ran high for Leonard Shephard of Albuquerque.

When two men in a car insulted Mrs. Shephard, the Albuquerque man went to admonish them. He was struck with a bottle, one man grabbed his arms and closed the window on them, and the car dragged him two blocks while they continued striking him with a bottle. They released him in front of City Hall, firing a shot at him as they sped away.

Old Line GOP Maps Strategy

Plan Bared To Block 'Modern' Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Old line party members are maneuvering quietly to block any "Modern Republican" from capturing the GOP Senate leadership for years to come.

This is the aim of influential members who have little enthusiasm for President Eisenhower's ideas of modernizing the party viewpoint. They have laid plans they hope will accomplish this result when a new floor leader is chosen to succeed retiring Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif).

Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill), a vigorous supporter of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio), probably will move into Knowland's command position without challenge. All-out Eisenhower supporters hoped to place one of their number in the line of succession as party whip, the post Dirksen will be vacating.

However, Chairman Styles Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee is expected to propose that the leadership base be broadened by the addition of an assistant leader, as well as the whip.

While Bridges is not talking about who might fill such an assistant's post, there was immediate speculation it would go to one of the conservative Republicans.

In this connection, the names of Senators John W. Bricker of Ohio, Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska were mentioned among others.

Traditionally, Senate Republicans have picked their floor leader by promotion.

If the leadership base is expanded, there is some expectation that a modern Republican might get the whip assignment in the interests of outward party harmony. But his chance at the top job would be lessened because of the intervening assistant leadership.

The trading floor of the New York Sock Exchange is about two-thirds as large as a fooball field.

U.S. Laundryman Cleans Up With His Show in Moscow

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Romaine Fielding's plan to show off a U.S. laundry at a Moscow fair went down the drain. But he cleaned up in the Soviet Union anyway.

Fielding, a 38-year-old dealer in laundry equipment, flew home to Los Angeles to await arrival of $30,137.

Where's the money coming from? The Russians.

"It all started as a potential tax-free junket to Russia," Fielding said. "I heard there was to be an American trade fair there and signed up for a laundry exhibit. Then I gathered together four accounts to supply the machinery and put everything aboard a ship bound for Helsinki, Finland."

Fielding's laundry was still on the high seas when he got news the Moscow fair had been called off. He went on anyway and made a deal to demonstrate his equipment at a Moscow housing project.

"We couldn't put up one of the modern type American laundries," he said, "but we took over a basement and hung out a sign. Practically everyone high in Russian circles except Khrushchev and his Cabinet visited our exhibit. They all marveled at the speed with which our American machines worked, especially the shirt-pressing equipment."

Fielding's laundry had been cranking away for about two weeks when a Moscow city Soviet official approached him and asked what he'd take for the works. He named his price and that was it.

Everyone was happy except Mrs. Fielding. While her husband dazzled the Soviets with Yankee washing machines, she did their personal laundry by hand.

PLAY WASN'T THE THING — Here's Margaret Truman as "Katie" in "Autumn Crocus" in her first Chicago stage appearance. The critics' comments weren't encouraging, but were leveled mostly against the play. Said one, "'Autumn Crocus' croaked," added Margaret was given a "24-second ovation."

GI Deserter Due To Gain Freedom

VERDUN, France (AP) — Pvt. Wayne Powers, the Chillicothe, Mo., GI, who hid out for 14 years in his French girl friend's home after deserting during the war, will be released from prison Oct. 9, the Army announced today.

He will have served a little more than two months of the six-month sentence imposed after he pleaded guilty before an Army court-martial to a desertion charge.

During his hiding in the little village of Mont d'Origny in northern France, Powers fathered five children by Yvette Beleuse. Miss Beleuse supported the family by working in a textile mill while Powers stayed home and did the housework.

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A grasshopper made the Denver police blotter.

Officer William R. O'Hayre charged Mrs. Janzen with careless driving.

Iraq Premier Woos Peasants

Land Reform Program Ordered by Chieftain

CAIRO (AP) — Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq is reported to have moved to consolidate peasant backing for his revolutionary regime with a land reshuffle while removing a potential rival.

The Middle East News Agency, which is controlled by the United Arab Republic, said in a dispatch from Baghdad that Kassem had announced the land program in a broadcast.

Kassem said the plan would free Iraqi peasants from feudal domination, the agency reported. The government will break up big land holdings during the next five years.

Big landlords were a bulwark of the royal government of the late Premier Nuri Said which Kassem overthrew July 14.

The No. 2 man in the revolt and the new republican regime, Brig. Abdul Salam Arif, has been relieved of his post as deputy premier, the news agency said. Arif has been named ambassador to Germany.

No reason for the demotion and, in effect, banishment of Arif was given. There have, however, been rumors of difference between him and Kassem. News from Baghdad is censored.

Arif has been believed advocating close Iraqi ties with President Nasser's U.A.R. while Kassem's public actions indicate an intention to maintain a separate course within the over-all pattern of Arab unity.

Without indicating at whom his remarks were aimed, Kassem said in his reported broadcast: "I consider it my duty to reaffirm that I and the revolutionary government will be on the lookout for anyone who tries to hinder the work on the path to revolutionary aims."

Land redistribution is the principal basis for building social reform, Kassem was quoted as saying.

History of Jazz To Be Preserved

Typical Dixieland jazz combo goes to town in New Orleans. This is Sharkey Bonano's outfit, always welcomed home to the Louisiana metropolis from engagements throughout the country.

By FORREST LEE McKENNON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Jass music has come of age and has stepped into an inheritance never dreamed possible in the bawdy days of its infancy. The Ford foundation has made a grant to Tulane University to establish jazz archives, to preserve the history and music born originally in New Orleans.

Frrom the lusty haunts of old Storyville and Basin street to the oak-shaded campus of uptown Tulane university is a long journey in New Orleans. True enough debutantes have been asking for original jazz band music at their parties for years. Official recognition, however, has been scant.

The New Orleans Jazz club, established 10 years ago, fittingly on Mardi Gras Day, has worked devotedly to promote, record and preserve jazz music and history This non - profit organization now has a weekly radio broadcast of New Orleans jazz bands. The club has offered its records and assistance to Tulane university in its efforts to establish archives.

Dr. William R. Hogan, chairman of Tulane's history department, says his department is on a jazz treasure hunt, made possible through the $75,000 grant made in April by the Ford foundation. The bulk of the funds will go toward collecting material on the New Orleans aspect of jazz between 1885 and now.

Records, taped interviews with jazz artists of all races, correspondence, diaries of the great figures in New Orleans jazz history, billboards, programs and posters will be sought.

A JAZZ congress is slated for New Orleans in Octobe. under the auspices of the Jazz International, Inc., a newly formed interlocking organization with the New Orleans Jazz club. The international congress will include jazz concerts, films, lectures, concerts and displays. It is planned to import representative jazz artists from abroad, especially from South and Central America in addition to local representation.

There are differences of opinion about the origin of Dixieland jazz music. Some authorities say it was brought to this country by African slaves. Others insist it is a combination of folk music and African rhythm. However, most enthusiasts agree it was first given a definite form in New Orleans to entertain the Creole gentlemen and their ladies on an evening of relaxation.

From the original small combo of mandolin, guitar and bass fiddle, Dixie jazz bands grew to include, trumpet, trombone, clarinet, banjo or guitar, bass fiddle or tuba, piano and drums. This is the standard Dixieland jazz band. They sometimes include saxophone, piccolo, peck horn, E flat alto and marimba.

There are devotees who speak in awed voices of the technical accomplishments heard in the top living bands such as those of Louis Armstrong, George Lewis, Paul Barbarin, Sharkey Bonano, Santo Pecora, Johnnie Wiggs, Eddie Pierson and Bill Matthews.

However, most lovers of Dixieland jazz echo the feeling of a listener who said: "Man I'm no wig. I don't dig terms. Them's cats' noise jus' makes me feel like a happy cat should."

Teacher's Method

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Here's how an unidentified Tucson teacher described his method of establishing discipline in his classroom:

"Get into your high school classroom before the class shows up the first day. Put the waste basket near the door. After the classroom is filled you march in late. Slam the door, kick the waste basket across the room and thunder in your loudest voice, 'Who left that thing in front of the door?' "

New Equipment

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia state police are being equipped with military-type steel helmets and riot sticks. Col. C. W. Woodson, superintendent, says it is the result of a periodic check of equipment which may be desired.

Cleopatra was once married to her brother, Ptolemy, who served as co-regent with her. She didn't trust him, had him done away with, and thus she became sole ruler of Egypt.

DOUBLE FEATURE — Here are French actress Brigitte Bardot and her new fiance, guitarist Sacha Distel, at St. Tropez, France. He was hired to train her on the guitar for a film, and it looks as if he plucked a lot of her heartstringa, too.

Air Terminal Opening

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Piedmont Airlines flight to Charleston, W. Va., will open operations today from Port Columbus' new 12 - million - dollar terminal. The facilities were dedicated Sept. 21. Scheduled take off time for the inaugural flight is 7:10 a.m., EST.

Loan Money Gets Dearer All the Time

Fear of Inflation Causes U.S. Reserve To Boost Interest

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—It's costing more to borrow all the time. Dearer money is returning with what might be called all deliberate speed.

Already there is talk of mortgage money getting tighter at a time when house building is booming again.

It costs businessmen more now to borrow from the bank to finance the movement of the crops or the production and stocking of goods for the Christmas trade.

Of late every time the U.S. Treasury has gone to the money market it has had to pay a little more. And its trips will continue as it finances the record peacetime deficit.

Fear of inflation is the bogey that causes the Federal Reserve Board to nudge interest rates higher — although it claims it is following rather than leading the trend.

Fear of inflation also seems to motivate many of the borrowers who had held back during the recession and hesitated for a time when the U.S. government securities market was at its most confused during the summer. Industry's trips to the money market are increasing now — before the costs get still higher.

Few bankers doubt that further hikes in interest rates are ahead. They expect tighter money too—insofar as Federal Reserve drives against inflation can offset the boost to inflation given by Treasury deficit financing.

The trend toward higher interest started in the West and spread to the East. The San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank was the last to lower its discount rate in 1957 and the first to raise it in 1958.

Some fear that the rise in interest rates, and especially any tightening in the supply of credit, could chill the business recovery just as it is getting under way.

But most hold that confidence is running so high now that dearer money will affect it very little.

The creeping rise in prices on many manufactured goods continues—all the way from the price of the new cars to the price of some textiles.

The stock market has shown the most evident belief that more inflation is coming. Stock prices have been built up to record highs apparently in this belief.

The cost of short-term borrowing goes up week by week. The flight from long-term bonds with fixed interest rates has been marked. Where the money market will level off is still to be seen.

NEW YORK (AP)—It's costing more to borrow all the time. Dearer money is returning with what might be called all deliberate speed.

Already there is talk of mortgage money getting tighter at a time when house building is booming again.

It costs businessmen more now to borrow from the bank to finance the movement of the crops or the production and stocking of goods for the Christmas trade.

Of late every time the U.S. Treasury has gone to the money market it has had to pay a little more. And its trips will continue as it finances the record peacetime deficit.

Fear of inflation is the bogey that causes the Federal Reserve Board to nudge interest rates higher — although it claims it is following rather than leading the trend.

Fear of inflation also seems to motivate many of the borrowers who had held back during the recession and hesitated for a time when the U.S. government securities market was at its most confused during the summer. Industry's trips to the money market are increasing now — before the costs get still higher.

Few bankers doubt that further hikes in interest rates are ahead. They expect tighter money too—insofar as Federal Reserve drives against inflation can offset the boost to inflation given by Treasury deficit financing.

The trend toward higher interest started in the West and spread to the East. The San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank was the last to lower its discount rate in 1957 and the first to raise it in 1958.

Some fear that the rise in interest rates, and especially any tightening in the supply of credit, could chill the business recovery just as it is getting under way.

But most hold that confidence is running so high now that dearer money will affect it very little.

The creeping rise in prices on many manufactured goods continues—all the way from the price of the new cars to the price of some textiles.

The stock market has shown the most evident belief that more inflation is coming. Stock prices have been built up to record highs apparently in this belief.

The cost of short-term borrowing goes up week by week. The flight from long-term bonds with fixed interest rates has been marked. Where the money market will level off is still to be seen.

O'Neill Diverts, Attention From His Record, DiSalle Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor, says his opponent in the November election has tried to "divert the attention of the people from his record and from the problems that lie ahead."

The former Toledo mayor made the statement shortly after Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill announced Wednesday he would actively campaign for the proposed constitutional amendment to regulate labor contracts in Ohio. The governor said he would ask the people to support the proposal.

DiSalle said O'Neill's announcement "indicates a last desperate attempt on the part of the incumbent to camouflage his own record in office."

"It is typical," DiSalle continued, "that within a week O'Neill should reverse his position. In first announcing his position (Sept. 22) he said it represented his personal conviction and that he was not going to urge anyone else to vote one way or the other; that he would be content if the people of Ohio followed the dictates of their own minds on the subject."

DiSalle suggested that O'Neill, possibly during his campaign, "might be able to explain why in 1956 he promised William Presser (president of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters) and his associates that he was opposed to this (amendment) issue, and why in 1958, after Presser has testified before the McClellan (Senate Rackets) Committee, he has reversed his position."

The Democratic standard-bearer said loose fiscal policies of the present administration have accentuated what he called the state's serious financial crisis, and he added:

"In view of the many failures in this area during the past two years, I do not blame the incumbent for attempting to divert the attention of the people from his record and from the problems that lie ahead (by bringing the amendment issue into the campaign)."

The amendment reads:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Ohio River Valley Gets Close Study

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Industrialists today wound up a 2½-day tour of possible plant sites in the central Ohio River valley.

The group, representing 11 firms, returned downstream to study sites on the Ohio side of the river before ending the trip at Chesapeake.

At a dinner here Wednesday night, the businessmen received outlines of industrial hopes of Pomeroy, Middleport and Gallipolis, Ohio, and Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Earlier the group toured the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. plant at Ravenswood, W. Va. Works Manager Lloyd Amos called the labor force in the area "outstanding."

Amos added that Kaiser's experience at Ravenswood with employes drawn from the vicinity has been "remarkable — a record of achievement better than at our other plants."

The tour, sponsored by the Central Ohio Valley Industrial Council, began Tuesday.

Ohio's Soybean Crop To Top 1957 Harvest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 1958 soybeans crop is expected to total 36 million bushels, a 10 per cent increase over last year's production, says Wallace Barr, Ohio State University farm economist.

Ohio farmers can expect to average $1.80 or $1.90 a bushel at harvest time this fall. The price for the next year will be slightly below the loan rate of $2.09 for the 1958-59 marketing year, Barr said.

O'Neill Diverts, Attention From His Record, DiSalle Says

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor, says his opponent in the November election has tried to "divert the attention of the people from his record and from the problems that lie ahead."

The former Toledo mayor made the statement shortly after Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill announced Wednesday he would actively campaign for the proposed constitutional amendment to regulate labor contracts in Ohio. The governor said he would ask the people to support the proposal.

DiSalle said O'Neill's announcement "indicates a last desperate attempt on the part of the incumbent to camouflage his own record in office."

"It is typical," DiSalle continued, "that within a week O'Neill should reverse his position. In first announcing his position (Sept. 22) he said it represented his personal conviction and that he was not going to urge anyone else to vote one way or the other; that he would be content if the people of Ohio followed the dictates of their own minds on the subject."

DiSalle suggested that O'Neill, possibly during his campaign, "might be able to explain why in 1956 he promised William Presser (president of the Ohio Conference of Teamsters) and his associates that he was opposed to this (amendment) issue, and why in 1958, after Presser has testified before the McClellan (Senate Rackets) Committee, he has reversed his position."

The Democratic standard-bearer said loose fiscal policies of the present administration have accentuated what he called the state's serious financial crisis, and he added:

"In view of the many failures in this area during the past two years, I do not blame the incumbent for attempting to divert the attention of the people from his record and from the problems that lie ahead (by bringing the amendment issue into the campaign)."

The amendment reads:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Ohio River Valley Gets Close Study

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Industrialists today wound up a 2½-day tour of possible plant sites in the central Ohio River valley.

The group, representing 11 firms, returned downstream to study sites on the Ohio side of the river before ending the trip at Chesapeake.

At a dinner here Wednesday night, the businessmen received outlines of industrial hopes of Pomeroy, Middleport and Gallipolis, Ohio, and Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Earlier the group toured the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. plant at Ravenswood, W. Va. Works Manager Lloyd Amos called the labor force in the area "outstanding."

Amos added that Kaiser's experience at Ravenswood with employes drawn from the vicinity has been "remarkable — a record of achievement better than at our other plants."

The tour, sponsored by the Central Ohio Valley Industrial Council, began Tuesday.

Marriage, Not a Divorce Is Sought by French Guinea

PARIS (AP)—"We want a free and dignified marriage and not divorce," said the troubled Premier of newly independent Guinea.

"We don't want independence against France, but rather with her," the handsome, black-suited Negro leader explained to a reporter in his distant capital at Conakry.

Results of the Sept. 28 French constitutional referendum from the rain-swept tropical countryside showed a margin of 40-1 against Gen. Charles de Gaulle's constitution.

Sekou Toure, a former French trading company junior clerk whose ancestors helped found the 13th century African Mali Empire, had told his followers to vote "No."

Tom-toms beat out the word. The white ballots (yes) meant white Frenchmen. Dark purple ballots (no) meant the black man. Purple won.

So today 36-year-old Toure has his own little empire, an aluminum and iron ore-rich nation on Africa's west coast.

True to his promise to any territory which voted down his constitution, De Gaulle gave Guinea its sovereignty at midnight Tuesday.

But already, Sekou Toure (pronounced Say-coo Tour-ay) is having second thoughts about the freedom of his own shaping.

Frenchmen running Guinea's customs, postal, telegraph, phone and radio services, and French teachers, will decide in two months whether they want to go home or work for Toure.

French army units will pull out within three months, leaving internal and external security to Guinea.

French aid, which has totaled more than 15 billion francs (33 million dollars) in the past 10 years, will be cut off.

This leaves Sekou Toure pretty much alone with his 2½ million Fullah, Malinke and Soussou tribesmen.

"Even if France wants to abandon Guinea, she will remain despite herself," Toure said. "Colonization has its positive things. We will keep French culture. We want to stay in the franc zone.

"For the moment we aren't even thinking about our own money, nor even our own flag."

State Mails Pamphlets on Labor Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three million election pamphlets publicizing a proposal to regulate labor contracts started pouring into the mails today.

Addressed to every home in Ohio, the pamphlets contain arguments for and against a change in the state constitution. Voters will decide the issue at the polls on Nov. 4. it reads:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is required by law to distribute the pamphlets. He estimated the cost to the state, through use of a professional mailing service, at $85,000.

A form of the ballot to be marked by voters is included with the pro and con arguments supplied by committees representing organizations for and against the proposal.

The labor contract proposal appears as Issue No. 2 on election ballots.

Issue No. 1 proposes a change in the constitution to permit formation of metropolitan federations. Because the legislature placed the proposal on ballots, it does not require the mailing of pro and con arguments. Issue No. 2 required distribution of the arguments because it is an initiated proposal placed on ballots through petition.

Brown sent a summary of Issue No. 1 to county election boards as required by law. All 88 boards must publish the summary in a newspaper in their own county. Some of the advertisements already have appeared. Counties pay for the ads.

U.S. Chides Soviet Union For Resumption of A-Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, chiding the Soviet Union for resuming nuclear weapons tests, says it will go through with plans for a one-year U.S. test suspension if the Soviets will follow suit.

The State Department issued that announcement Tuesday night a short time after the Atomic Energy Commission reported the Soviet Union had terminated its much-heralded but short-lived test suspension with at least two new blasts.

The department described the Soviet tests as confirmation of U.S. suspicions that the Soviet test suspension announcement last March 31 was just propaganda.

"It was suspected at the time that the Soviet announcement was primarily a propaganda exercise and that there was no real intention to suspend testing," the department said. "This now seems to be confirmed by the event."

The AEC announcement of the new Soviet tests backed up reports earlier in the day from Tokyo that blast waves from the direction of the Soviet Union had been detected.

"Two detonations were detected," the AEC said. "Both took place north of the Arctic Circle and were of moderate to high yield."

In announcing the United States hopes to adhere to its own suspension plans, the State Department noted that talks initiated by this country are scheduled to begin in Geneva Oct. 31 on means of reaching agreement on policing a worldwide test suspension.

Declaring it expects the talks to begin on schedule, the department said: "Unless the Soviet Union holds further tests after negotiations have begun, the United States remains prepared to withhold further testing of atomic and hydrogen weapons for a period of one year from the beginning of the negotiations on Oct. 31."

The United States still is conducting a series of atomic tests at its Nevada Proving Grounds but these are expected to end before Oct. 31.

Nixon Shuns Comment on Right-to-Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Nixon, steering clear of California's No. 1 election controversy, is going after Democratic votes for hard-pressed Republican candidates in his home state.

His theme: The Republicans have brought you peace and prosperity.

Nixon put it to California voters —7 to 5 Democratic—this way in a statewide television speech Tuesday night, launching a three day tour in behalf of the GOP ticket:

If you want to take a chance on a change, vote Democratic.

But if you want to continue the best years in his country's history, vote Republican.

The talk was notably free of partisan attacks against the Democrats who rolled up a commanding lead over the Republican slate in the June primary.

The vice president—relaxed and informal — reminded Claifornians of their "great tradition" of voting for the man rather than the party. Then he proceeded to tell them why he thought they should vote Republican Nov. 4.

First off, though, Nixon made it clear he isn't going to get involved in the state's roaring battle over a "right to work" initiative on the November ballot. The measure would outlaw a union shop.

Q. What causes the chill that runs up and down the back when a person sees something that has sentimental meaning, such as the national flag?

A. The reaction probably results from an emotional stimulation of the automatic portion of the nervous system. The same mechanism causes the hair on a dog's back to stand up when the animal is frightened. It's hard to say why sight of the flag sets off this reaction. Probably some sort of mental association.

Q. What can be done to build up a child's resistance against colds?

A. If the child is otherwise healthy, about the best suggestion is to follow the ordinary rules of hygiene (rest, good food, exercise). Many people ask whether removing the tonsils will help prevent colds. There seems to be no really good scientific evidence that a tonsil operation prevents anything except repeated tonsillitis. However, there must be some reason why many doctors have their own youngster's tonsils removed.

Q. My mother-in-law has a deaf-mute sister. What are the chances of my wife and I having children afflicted in this way?

A. It depends on what caused your sister-in-law's deafness. About half the cases of deaf-mutism are due to injury to the hearing apparatus before birth or during early infancy and is not inheritable. If there are no other cases in the family it is quite possible that the sister's condition is due to some cause which would not be transmitted to your children.

Marriage, Not a Divorce Is Sought by French Guinea

PARIS (AP)—"We want a free and dignified marriage and not divorce," said the troubled Premier of newly independent Guinea.

"We don't want independence against France, but rather with her," the handsome, black-suited Negro leader explained to a reporter in his distant capital at Conakry.

Results of the Sept. 28 French constitutional referendum from the rain-swept tropical countryside showed a margin of 40-1 against Gen. Charles de Gaulle's constitution.

Sekou Toure, a former French trading company junior clerk whose ancestors helped found the 13th century African Mali Empire, had told his followers to vote "No."

Tom-toms beat out the word. The white ballots (yes) meant white Frenchmen. Dark purple ballots (no) meant the black man. Purple won.

So today 36-year-old Toure has his own little empire, an aluminum and iron ore-rich nation on Africa's west coast.

True to his promise to any territory which voted down his constitution, De Gaulle gave Guinea its sovereignty at midnight Tuesday.

But already, Sekou Toure (pronounced Say-coo Tour-ay) is having second thoughts about the freedom of his own shaping.

Frenchmen running Guinea's customs, postal, telegraph, phone and radio services, and French teachers, will decide in two months whether they want to go home or work for Toure.

French army units will pull out within three months, leaving internal and external security to Guinea.

French aid, which has totaled more than 15 billion francs (33 million dollars) in the past 10 years, will be cut off.

This leaves Sekou Toure pretty much alone with his 2½ million Fullah, Malinke and Soussou tribesmen.

"Even if France wants to abandon Guinea, she will remain despite herself," Toure said. "Colonization has its positive things. We will keep French culture. We want to stay in the franc zone.

"For the moment we aren't even thinking about our own money, nor even our own flag."

County Girl Wins Award

Virginia Garrett Eyes Dairy Trip

Virginia Garrett, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, has been selected as one of three 4-H dairy efficiency award winners in Ohio. Miss Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, will be eligible to attend the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Chicago next week as the result of winning this award.

She was selected as a result of her outstanding 4-H record with emphasis on leadership and dairy,

VIRGINIA GARRETT

according to Clarence J. Cunningham, County Extension Agent, 4-H.

Virginia has been a 4-H club member for nine years during which time she has completed 33 projects. Most of her projects have been dairy, but she has also completed projects in clothing, electricity and Junior Leadership.

Virginia has shown dairy animals at both the county and state fairs for several years. She had the Champion Holstein at the Pickaway County Fair for five successive years.

Virginia has held most offices in the Darby Fine and Dandy 4-H Club whose advisors are her father, C. V. Neal and Franklin Riddle. Virginia has also been active in the county Junior Leadership Club.

Virginia was on the county dairy judging team at the Ohio State Fair and Dairy Day in 1957. She received a trip to Ohio Forestry Camp in 1957.

Miss Garrett, a freshman at Otterbein College, is a recent graduate of Darby High School where she was valedictorian. She was a member of the National Honor Society.

Virginia is active in church activities as a pianist, assistant teacher and secretary.

Virginia attended Farm Bureau Camp in 1957 and is also active in Grange activities.

Miss Garrett's trip to National 4-H Dairy Conference is sponsored by the National Dairy Products Corporation.

They're in the offing for housewives, C. Del Robbins, an official of a major food firm told the annual meeting of the National Assn. of Retail Meat and Food Dealers.

State Mails Pamphlets on Labor Issue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three million election pamphlets publicizing a proposal to regulate labor contracts started pouring into the mails today.

Addressed to every home in Ohio, the pamphlets contain arguments for and against a change in the state constitution. Voters will decide the issue at the polls on Nov. 4. it reads:

"No employer or labor organization shall deny or abridge the right to work by requiring membership or non-membership in, or payment or non-payment of money to, a labor organization as a condition of employment or continued employment in this state."

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is required by law to distribute the pamphlets. He estimated the cost to the state, through use of a professional mailing service, at $85,000.

A form of the ballot to be marked by voters is included with the pro and con arguments supplied by committees representing organizations for and against the proposal.

The labor contract proposal appears as Issue No. 2 on election ballots.

Issue No. 1 proposes a change in the constitution to permit formation of metropolitan federations. Because the legislature placed the proposal on ballots, it does not require the mailing of pro and con arguments. Issue No. 2 required distribution of the arguments because it is an initiated proposal placed on ballots through petition.

Brown sent a summary of Issue No. 1 to county election boards as required by law. All 88 boards must publish the summary in a newspaper in their own county. Some of the advertisements already have appeared. Counties pay for the ads.

U.S. Chides Soviet Union For Resumption of A-Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, chiding the Soviet Union for resuming nuclear weapons tests, says it will go through with plans for a one-year U.S. test suspension if the Soviets will follow suit.

The State Department issued that announcement Tuesday night a short time after the Atomic Energy Commission reported the Soviet Union had terminated its much-heralded but short-lived test suspension with at least two new blasts.

The department described the Soviet tests as confirmation of U.S. suspicions that the Soviet test suspension announcement last March 31 was just propaganda.

"It was suspected at the time that the Soviet announcement was primarily a propaganda exercise and that there was no real intention to suspend testing," the department said. "This now seems to be confirmed by the event."

The AEC announcement of the new Soviet tests backed up reports earlier in the day from Tokyo that blast waves from the direction of the Soviet Union had been detected.

"Two detonations were detected," the AEC said. "Both took place north of the Arctic Circle and were of moderate to high yield."

In announcing the United States hopes to adhere to its own suspension plans, the State Department noted that talks initiated by this country are scheduled to begin in Geneva Oct. 31 on means of reaching agreement on policing a worldwide test suspension.

Declaring it expects the talks to begin on schedule, the department said: "Unless the Soviet Union holds further tests after negotiations have begun, the United States remains prepared to withhold further testing of atomic and hydrogen weapons for a period of one year from the beginning of the negotiations on Oct. 31."

The United States still is conducting a series of atomic tests at its Nevada Proving Grounds, but these are expected to end before Oct. 31.

Nixon Shuns Comment on Right-to-Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Nixon, steering clear of California's No. 1 election controversy, is going after Democratic votes for hard-pressed Republican candidates in his home state.

His theme: The Republicans have brought you peace and prosperity.

Nixon put it to California voters —7 to 5 Democratic—this way in a statewide television speech Tuesday night, launching a three day tour in behalf of the GOP ticket:

If you want to take a chance on a change, vote Democratic.

But if you want to continue the best years in his country's history, vote Republican.

The talk was notably free of partisan attacks against the Democrats who rolled up a commanding lead over the Republican slate in the June primary.

The vice president—relaxed and informal — reminded Claifornians of their "great tradition" of voting for the man rather than the party. Then he proceeded to tell them why he thought they should vote Republican Nov. 4.

First off, though, Nixon made it clear he isn't going to get involved in the state's roaring battle over a "right to work" initiative on the November ballot. The measure would outlaw a union shop.

'NOT MY IDEA'—Looking a bit wistful, Debbie Reynolds tells reporters in Beverly Hills, Calif., that "This separation is the result of what happened in New York and the stories that originated there. It definitely was not my idea that Eddie and I separate." That's husband Eddie Fisher. What happened in New York was his traipsing around with Elizabeth Taylor. Debbie is in car.

Good Yields Depress Ohio Potato Prices

CLEVELAND (AP) — A good yield, in spite of some damage by unusually wet weather, is depressing the prices northern Ohio farmers are getting for potatoes now being dug.

"At $1.50 a hundredweight, potatoes are selling at just about the cost of production," said Carroll H. Bartter of Columbia Station. "It takes a good grower to get $450 for an acre. Cost of production in Ohio is about $400 an acre."

The best fields among Bartter's 125 acres of potatoes yield about 450 bushels — triple what would have been a big production two decades ago. He believes "better insect control is the big reason," but also rates a better job by seed growers important.

This year's Ohio potato crop is estimated at 16 per cent above last year.

That crop, three - fourths of which is produced by some 200 growers, totals about six million bushels a year. That is only half as much as 50 years ago, and the Ohio acreage is about 22,000, compared with 200,000 given over to potatoes in 1900. About two-thirds of the potatoes consumed in Ohio are shipped in from outside the state.

Painesville Jaycees To Boom Fluoridation

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A campaign committee for fluoridation of this city's water has been named by directors of the junior chamber of commerce. Robert L. Simmons, who heads the committee, said public support would be sought in urging city council to enact necessary legislation.

An agreement, with each bullring running corridas on alternate Sundays, is expected. The pocketbook may be hit just as badly, but the blood pressure should be down.

Pickaway Bond Sales $65,976

Ohio sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for August reached $25½ million dollars for an eight month total of $219 million. While the eight month total is approximately seven million dollars ahead of 1957 the sales of the Payroll Savings Bond, the Series E, lags behind due to unemployment in the industrial counties.

County Chairman Judge William D. Radcliff, in commenting on the sales stated "it is amazing how well sales have stood up in the face of the past year's economic recession. In the high unemployment areas we have seen the importance of having a savings nest-egg. . .bonds held since the war have been redeemed to make mortgage payments and purchase other necessities. It is my sincere belief that every community has benefited from the individual holdings of Savings Bonds."

August sales of Series E and H Bonds for Pickaway County totaled $65,976.

Leading the state in percentage of quota achieved is Hocking County with Athens, Jackson, Scioto and Harrison counties close behind. Among the industrial counties, only Lucas County has maintained its expected sales quota.

Ole Ole

EL PASO, (AP)— An El Paso sportswriter says all that blood in Juarez bullrings is not from slain bulls. "The promoters are cutting each other's throats with rival Sunday shows," he says.

An agreement, with each bullring running corridas on alternate Sundays, is expected. The pocketbook may be hit just as badly, but the blood pressure should be down.

Good Yields Depress Ohio Potato Prices

CLEVELAND (AP) — A good yield, in spite of some damage by unusually wet weather, is depressing the prices northern Ohio farmers are getting for potatoes now being dug.

"At $1.50 a hundredweight, potatoes are selling at just about the cost of production," said Carroll H. Bartter of Columbia Station. "It takes a good grower to get $450 for an acre. Cost of production in Ohio is about $400 an acre."

The best fields among Bartter's 125 acres of potatoes yield about 450 bushels — triple what would have been a big production two decades ago. He believes "better insect control is the big reason," but also rates a better job by seed growers important.

This year's Ohio potato crop is estimated at 16 per cent above last year.

That crop, three - fourths of which is produced by some 200 growers, totals about six million bushels a year. That is only half as much as 50 years ago, and the Ohio acreage is about 22,000, compared with 200,000 given over to potatoes in 1900. About two-thirds of the potatoes consumed in Ohio are shipped in from outside the state.

Painesville Jaycees To Boom Fluoridation

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A campaign committee for fluoridation of this city's water has been named by directors of the junior chamber of commerce. Robert L. Simmons, who heads the committee, said public support would be sought in urging city council to enact necessary legislation.

Cincinnati Girl, 7, Is Crushed by Cavein

CINCINNATI (AP) — Seven-year-old Mary Ann Breitenstein was crushed to death late Wednesday when, playing in a basement excavation prepared for a new house, she was buried under a 30 pound chunk of earth which caved from the basement wall.

LINEMEN SPARED THIS TREE—Linemen who found this gnarled old pine in the way of utility lines at Gorham, Me., decided to spare the tree for the sake of art and maybe as a bit of sentiment.

Pickaway Bond Sales $65,976

Ohio sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for August reached $25½ million dollars for an eight month total of $219 million. While the eight month total is approximately seven million dollars ahead of 1957 the sales of the Payroll Savings Bond, the Series E, lags behind due to unemployment in the industrial counties.

County Chairman Judge William D. Radcliff, in commenting on the sales stated "it is amazing how well sales have stood up in the face of the past year's economic recession. In the high unemployment areas we have seen the importance of having a savings nest-egg. . .bonds held since the war have been redeemed to make mortgage payments and purchase other necessities. It is my sincere belief that every community has benefited from the individual holdings of Savings Bonds."

August sales of Series E and H Bonds for Pickaway County totaled $65,976.

Leading the state in percentage of quota achieved is Hocking County with Athens, Jackson, Scioto and Harrison counties close behind. Among the industrial counties, only Lucas County has maintained its expected sales quota.

Six-Man Gridders Ready for Action

The wide-open style of six-man football will be played at its best Saturday night at the Pickaway County fairgrounds when the six teams of the league face each other for the third week.

Darby and Walnut lead the pack with two victories in as many outings. Scioto and Stoutsville follow with 1-1 records and Saltcreek and Pickaway bring up the rear.

A surpirsing and possible dark horse of league play, Saltcreek, will meet all-round, well-balanced Darby at 6:30 p. m. Scioto tears into strong Walnut at 7:45 p. m.; Stoutsville faces winless Pickaway in the final battle of the evening at 9 p. m.

The Warrior - Trojan fracas should be the best game of the evening. Although Wayne Evans' youths have two losses, they have had some tough breaks along the way.

• • •

THE FIRST Warrior defeat was to Scioto under a rain swollen sky and a slippery field, which hampered a speedy running attack. Last week's loss was a heartbreaking 20-19 defeat at the hands of favored Walnut.

The southeast county boys cannot be counted out when such gridders as Gary Valentine and Roger Clarke are able to cover the 80 yards at a moment's notice. Valentine also is dangerous as a left handed passer, something which kept Walnut off-balance all night.

The Trojans will throw six able players on the field Saturday to combat the Warrior onslaught. The backfield, probably the league's fastest, is composed of Gary Wardell and Ned Yoakum, halfbacks, and Tommy Walters, quarterback.

The line will be made up of ends Dave Musselman and Tommy Liff and Jerry Vance, center. Liff entered six-man competition with a bang last week, scoring 20 points in Darby's 35-8 win over Pickaway.

The young junior ran and scored from both the end and halfback positions. Musselman continued his rugged defensive work at end and grabbed a Walters pass for a TD. Darby's first victory was a 12-0 decision over Stoutsville.

Walnut runs into a more varied offense this week when it tangles with little Scioto. The Buffaloes have two spirited halfbacks and a passing quarterback in Roy Sanders. Halfbacks are Terry Little and Dickie Melvin.

• • •

LAST WEEK inexperience told the tale as Stoutsville came back strong after an opening defeat and unleased its fury on Scioto. The Buffaloes got off to their second bad start in a row and could never recover from early Indian scores.

After squashing Saltcreek in their first start, 27-6, the Buffaloes were themselves trampled, 26-0, by Stoutsville. Joe Corbett's charges have been working all week on offense to prevent Walnut's Dave Smith and Clarence Gray from churning up the field.

The Tigers were hard-pressed in last week's 20-19 win over Saltcreek, but had an easy time of it in their first go, defeating Pickaway, 27-13.

Walnut will match Scioto's speed and passing attack and will more than match the Scioto defensive line. This contest should be a high scoring battle, pitting Smith against Valentine.

The final battle of the evening pits Richard Bussert led Stoutsville against defending league champion Pickaway.

The Indians rolled over Scioto last week, 35-8, and lost a mud battle to Darby, 12-0. Stoutsville will be led by the quarterbacking of Randall Crites and the plunging of Bussert, also a defensive whiz.

• • •

THE INDIANS went to the airlanes last week, something they were unable to do in their opening battle, and completely outmanuvered Scioto. Don Guseman came into his own as an end, catching two passes for TDs.

Pickaway will rely on the running of Jerry Anderson and Dave Petty. Both have carried the ball for the Pirates 90 per cent of the time.

The Pirates will be led defensively by Anderson and Petty and two youngsters in Joe Goeller and Richard Dean. Pickaway usually keeps on the ground while Stoutsville will throw with Crites and run with the 173 lb. Bussert.

Spahns Success Tied to Hitting

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren Spahn, the pitcher, owes much of his success to Warren Spahn, the hitter.

The Milwaukee Braves' matchless left-hander proved it again in the World Series opener Wednesday when he shaded the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings.

If Spahn weren't a reliable batsman, he never would have gone the distance.

Manager Fred Haney would have taken him out for a pinch hitter in the seventh with the Braves trailing 3-2 or again in the eighth with the score tied 3-3.

Haney said as much today. So did Spahn.

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE—

In Three Sizes!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Circleville

YANKED OUT A VICTORY — Bad-legged Bill Bruton (left) and gallant Warren Spahn embrace in the Milwaukee dressing room after they squeezed out a ten inning, 4-3 win over the not-so-Damn-Yankees in the first game of the World Series. Bruton singled in the victory run while Spahn went the route against the losers.

Injuries to Star Players May Equalize College Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the three great equalizers in college football the injury — is making the experts take a longing look at Saturday's games.

Incentive and mud — the other two — are always a hazard in picking the winners, but the return or loss of key players in midweek makes things more interesting.

That could be the case at Dartmouth Saturday where Penn, a 43-0 loser last week to Penn State, must face the Indians without Fred Dolling, their right halfback who twisted an ankle. Dolling led the Quakers' ground offense last year with 511 yards. Penn's center John Marchiano is also out.

Dartmouth, already a 12 point early favorite, lost tackle Bill Pettway, perhaps for the season, with a knee injury in the Lafayette game.

Illinois, a three point favorite, goes out of the Big Ten to Durham, N.C., for a battle against the Atlantic Coast Conference's Duke and will have to get along with only limited service, at least, from captain and fullback Jack Delveaux. He pulled a leg muscle against UCLA while quarterback Bob Hickey has a sprained ankle that caused Coach Ray Eliot to move soph John Esterbrook to No. 1 quarterback.

Purdue, worried enough with Rice's powerful offense, will probably be without first string quarterback Bob Spoo, out with bruised ribs suffered against Nebraska. The Boilermakers are 7 points favorite against the Owls.

Pitt has been listed an early 6½ point favorite over Minnesota's Gophers. But the Panthers still don't know the status of quarterbacks Bill Kaliden, who has a bruised instep, Ivan Toncin, a pulled rib muscle, and halfback Bill Haley, a sprained ankle.

Ohio State will be the favorite over the Washington Huskies Saturday, but the absence of Buckeye quarterback Frank Kremblas could take its toll. Kremblas' passing gave Woody Hayes' boys a sudden shift from his ground offense in their 23-20 Southern Methodist victory.

Any hopes Indiana, a six point underdog, had of catching West Virginia, still down after its 47-14 blasting by Oklahoma, were dimmed with the return of Mountaineer quarterback Dick Longfellow.

Broncs Ready For DVL Tilt With MS Crew

Coach Russ Gregg's Ashville Broncos go after their second win in four starts Friday when Madison South comes here for a Darby Valley League contest. Kickoff time is set for 8 p. m. at the local fairgrounds.

The Broncos will be seeking their first DVL victory in two tries after dropping a 14-6 test to loop opponent Mt. Sterling Friday. It will mark the first home game for the Ashville 11.

According to Coach Gregg, his squad appears to be in near top condition for the contest. Tackle Bob Peters, missing the Mt. Sterling game with an ear ailment, should be ready for the Madison South meeting.

The Broncos' T-formation attack will be led by quarterback Bill Hollenback who rapidly is assuming the role of a top passer for Coach Gregg's squad. In the receiving department he has two reliable ends in Bob Hoover and Dale Fout.

Geared for action on the ground are halfbacks Phil Roese and Clarence Bandy and fullback Frank Gloyd. Filling out the line assignments are tackle Howard Newton, guards Steve Stover and Bill Haddox and center Bob Featheringham.

Yankee Position Today Tagged As Unenviable

After Losing Series Opener, Bronx Crew Now Faces Burdette

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The New York Yankees were in a most unenviable position today as they awaited Lew Burdette and the Milwaukee Braves in the second game of the World Series.

Imagine being one down, their best pitcher, Whitey Ford, chased from the mound, and the fellow who vanquished them three times a year ago waiting in the wings?

That was the Yankees' position as they sought to even the series after Wednesday's 10-inning 4-3 Milwaukee triumph behind Warren Spahn in the opener.

Right-hander Bob Turley, who won 21 while losing only seven, was the scheduled Yankee pitcher. He started twice last year. He was routed the first time but came back to defeat the Braves 3-2 in the sixth game.

This year, Burdette won 14 of his last 17 decisions to wind up with a 20-10 record.

In Wednesday's game, the Braves tied the score 3-3 in the eighth and then won it in the 10th on Billy Bruton's single.

"I think we can beat 'em in five," Spahn said after the game. "In fact, it may even be four, if Lew beats Turley. And I think he will."

Actually, Ford was not the losing pitcher. Ryne Duren, the fireball relief pitcher, was charged with the defeat. After blowing his fast ball with spectacular success for 2 1-3 innings, during which he struck out five, the bespectacled right-hander lost some of his blinding speed. Singles by Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Bruton produced the run which broke the 3-3 tie and gave Spahn his third World Series triumph against two defeats.

The 37-year-old southpaw yielded eight hits, walked four and struck out six.

Four players shared the Yankee hits. Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron collected two hits each. Skowron and Bauer homered, Hank hitting his with one on base, to account for all the Yanks' runs.

Milwaukee gathered 10 hits, six off Ford in seven innings. Spahn helped himself to two hits, one of them driving in a run. Crandall, with a single, and Wes Covington, with a sacrifice fly, drove in the other Milwaukee runs.

Managers Fred Haney of Milwaukee and Casey Stengel of New York promised to shuffle their lineups for the second game.

Haney said he would use Frank Torre at first base, in place of Joe Adcock, and Bruton in center, in place of Andy Pafko. Stengel was coy with the writers but hinted he would start Norm Siebern, a left-handed hitter, in left. That means Elston Howard may be either on the bench or in right field instead of Bauer, who is still nursing a sore wrist. Jerry Lumpe, a left-handed hitter, may replace the right-handed hitting Carey at third base.

Steamin' Demon Sets New Record At Lexington

Steamin' Demon, owned by George W. Van Camp, yesterday set a world's record at the Lexington Trots by turning in a trotting time trial of 2:00.4.

The time sets a combined record for double - gaited stallions. Steamin' Demon's trotting time, plus a 1:58.3 pace set last year, gives him a combined time of 3:59.1.

The old mark of 4:00.4 was set by Hodgen in 1950. Steamin' Demon, the pacer turned trotter, is nearing the completion of a successful first year of trotting.

He has appeared at the Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, plus a number of other outstanding harness racing events.

Former record holder Hodgen was owned by McKinley Kirk of Washington C. H., and was driven to his 1950 record by Eddie Cobb.

Haney's 5 Crucial Decisions Labeled as Keys to Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "This was the manager's game. He won it just as much as any of the players did. It was the skipper's game all the way."

This was Warren Spahn's clubhouse tribute to Manager Fred Haney's shrewd direction of Wednesday's opening World Series game, won by the Milwaukee Braves over the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings.

Spahnie gained credit for the triumph. Billy Bruton drove in the winning run. Joe Adcock ignited the winning rally with a hit to center. And Del Crandall kept the rally alive with a two-out single over second.

But Fred Haney was in there masterminding all the way.

There were at least five times when Haney had to make a crucial decision. He made the right one each time.

Why did he let Spahn bat in the seventh with the Yankees leading 3-2 and Whitey Ford, their ace southpaw, on the mound?

"I know my own men," Haney said simply. "I have faith in Spahnie. We had three innings to get a run for him. I knew if we did he would hold them off the rest of the way. He's my best and I wanted to continue going with my best."

Why did he order Henry Aaron to swing away instead of sacrificing with a runner on first, nobody out in the eighth and the Yankees still ahead 3-2? Aaron doubled the runner, Eddie Mathews, to third and Wes Covington came through with the long fly that produced the tying run.

"Aaron has won me ball games with the long ball," Haney replied "I don't think he's won me a game in three years with a bunt. If I had Aaron bunt, it would have given Casey Stengel (New York manager) an opportunity to walk Covington. Then we'd have two right-handed hitters facing (Rhyne) Duren, a right-handed pitcher."

Why didn't he send in Frank Torre, a left-handed hitter to swing for the right-handed Joe Adcock, with runners on second and third, Duren on the mound and the Yankees' 3-2 lead in Jeopardy? Adcock struck out but, kept in the game, he came through with the big hit in the 10th.

"I figured if Adcock had been on the bench, I'd have sent him in as a pinch hitter in that spot," Fred explained. "So why take him out? Besides, I wanted to save Torre for a more advantageous spot later in the game."

Why did he do just the opposite an inning later, when he sent up Bruton, a left-handed hitter, to bat for Andy Pafko, a right-handed hitter, against Duren? Bruton fanned.

"Andy gave me 100 per cent out there today," Fred said. "But he is not longer a youngster. I have to watch him to a point where I can keep him at his top physical condition. He was getting tired. It's a long series. I need him."

Why didn't he replace slow-moving Adcock at first base in the 10th with the smoother-fielding Torre after Frank had batted for Johnny Logan in the ninth?

"If I had done that, it meant that Felix Mantilla, who replaced Logan at short, would have been my second hitter in the 10th instead of Adcock. Who would you rather have hitting for you at that state... Mantilla or Adcock?"

Six-Man Gridders Ready for Action

The wide-open style of six-man football will be played at its best Saturday night at the Pickaway County fairgrounds when the six teams of the league face each other for the third week.

Darby and Walnut lead the pack with two victories in as many outings. Scioto and Stoutsville follow with 1-1 records and Saltcreek and Pickaway bring up the rear.

A surpirsing and possible dark horse of league play, Saltcreek, will meet all-round, well-balanced Darby at 6:30 p. m. Scioto tears into strong Walnut at 7:45 p. m.; Stoutsville faces winless Pickaway in the final battle of the evening at 9 p. m.

The Warrior - Trojan fracas should be the best game of the evening. Although Wayne Evans' youths have two losses, they have had some tough breaks along the way.

• • •

THE FIRST Warrior defeat was to Scioto under a rain swollen sky and a slippery field, which hampered a speedy running attack. Last week's loss was a heartbreaking 20-19 defeat at the hands of favored Walnut.

The southeast county boys cannot be counted out when such gridders as Gary Valentine and Roger Clarke are able to cover the 80 yards at a moment's notice. Valentine also is dangerous as a left handed passer, something which kept Walnut off-balance all night.

The Trojans will throw six able players on the field Saturday to combat the Warrior onslaught. The backfield, probably the league's fastest, is composed of Gary Wardell and Ned Yoakum, halfbacks, and Tommy Walters, quarterback.

The line will be made up of ends Dave Musselman and Tommy Liff and Jerry Vance, center. Liff entered six-man competition with a bang last week, scoring 20 points in Darby's 35-8 win over Pickaway.

The young junior ran and scored from both the end and halfback positions. Musselman continued his rugged defensive work at end and grabbed a Walters pass for a TD. Darby's first victory was a 12-0 decision over Stoutsville.

Walnut runs into a more varied offense this week when it tangles with little Scioto. The Buffaloes have two spirited halfbacks and a passing quarterback in Roy Sanders. Halfbacks are Terry Little and Dickie Melvin.

• • •

LAST WEEK inexperience told the tale as Stoutsville came back strong after an opening defeat and unleased its fury on Scioto. The Buffaloes got off to their second bad start in a row and could never recover from early Indian scores.

After squashing Saltcreek in their first start, 27-6, the Buffaloes were themselves trampled, 26-0, by Stoutsville. Joe Corbett's charges have been working all week on offense to prevent Walnut's Dave Smith and Clarence Gray from churning up the field.

The Tigers were hard-pressed in last week's 20-19 win over Saltcreek, but had an easy time of it in their first go, defeating Pickaway, 27-13.

Walnut will match Scioto's speed and passing attack and will more than match the Scioto defensive line. This contest should be a high scoring battle, pitting Smith against Valentine.

The final battle of the evening pits Richard Bussert led Stoutsville against defending league champion Pickaway.

The Indians rolled over Scioto last week, 35-8, and lost a mud battle to Darby, 12-0. Stoutsville will be led by the quarterbacking of Randall Crites and the plunging of Bussert, also a defensive whiz.

• • •

THE INDIANS went to the airlanes last week, something they were unable to do in their opening battle, and completely outmanuvered Scioto. Don Guseman came into his own as an end, catching two passes for TDs.

Pickaway will rely on the running of Jerry Anderson and Dave Petty. Both have carried the ball for the Pirates 90 per cent of the time.

The Pirates will be led defensively by Anderson and Petty and two youngsters in Joe Goeller and Richard Dean. Pickaway usually keeps on the ground while Stoutsville will throw with Crites and run with the 173 lb. Bussert.

Spahns Success Tied to Hitting

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Warren Spahn, the pitcher, owes much of his success to Warren Spahn, the hitter.

The Milwaukee Braves' matchless left-hander proved it again in the World Series opener Wednesday when he shaded the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings.

If Spahn weren't a reliable batsman, he never would have gone the distance.

Manager Fred Haney would have taken him out for a pinch hitter in the seventh with the Braves trailing 3-2 or again in the eighth with the score tied 3-3.

Haney said as much today. So did Spahn.

SIGN OF GOOD TASTE—

In Three Sizes!

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Circleville

YANKED OUT A VICTORY — Bad-legged Bill Bruton (left) and gallant Warren Spahn embrace in the Milwaukee dressing room after they squeezed out a ten inning, 4-3 win over the not-so-Damn-Yankees in the first game of the World Series. Bruton singled in the victory run while Spahn went the route against the losers.

Injuries to Star Players May Equalize College Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One of the three great equalizers in college football the injury — is making the experts take a longing look at Saturday's games.

Incentive and mud — the other two — are always a hazard in picking the winners, but the return or loss of key players in midweek makes things more interesting.

That could be the case at Dartmouth Saturday where Penn, a 43-0 loser last week to Penn State, must face the Indians without Fred Dolling, their right halfback who twisted an ankle. Dolling led the Quakers' ground offense last year with 511 yards. Penn's center John Marchiano is also out.

Dartmouth, already a 12 point early favorite, lost tackle Bill Pettway, perhaps for the season, with a knee injury in the Lafayette game.

Illinois, a three point favorite, goes out of the Big Ten to Durham, N.C., for a battle against the Atlantic Coast Conference's Duke and will have to get along with only limited service, at least, from captain and fullback Jack Delveaux. He pulled a leg muscle against UCLA while quarterback Bob Hickey has a sprained ankle that caused Coach Ray Eliot to move soph John Esterbrook to No. 1 quarterback.

Purdue, worried enough with Rice's powerful offense, will probably be without first string quarterback Bob Spoo, out with bruised ribs suffered against Nebraska. The Boilermakers are 7 points favorite against the Owls.

Pitt has been listed an early 6½ point favorite over Minnesota's Gophers. But the Panthers still don't know the status of quarterbacks Bill Kaliden, who has a bruised instep, Ivan Toncin, a pulled rib muscle, and halfback Bill Haley, a sprained ankle.

Ohio State will be the favorite over the Washington Huskies Saturday, but the absence of Buckeye quarterback Frank Kremblas could take its toll. Kremblas' passing gave Woody Hayes' boys a sudden shift from his ground offense in their 23-20 Southern Methodist victory.

Any hopes Indiana, a six point underdog, had of catching West Virginia, still down after its 47-14 blasting by Oklahoma, were dimmed with the return of Mountaineer quarterback Dick Longfellow.

Broncs Ready For DVL Tilt With MS Crew

Coach Russ Gregg's Ashville Broncos go after their second win in four starts Friday when Madison South comes here for a Darby Valley League contest. Kickoff time is set for 8 p. m. at the local fairgrounds.

The Broncos will be seeking their first DVL victory in two tries after dropping a 14-6 test to loop opponent Mt. Sterling Friday. It will mark the first home game for the Ashville 11.

According to Coach Gregg, his squad appears to be in near top condition for the contest. Tackle Bob Peters, missing the Mt. Sterling game with an ear ailment, should be ready for the Madison South meeting.

The Broncos' T-formation attack will be led by quarterback Bill Hollenback who rapidly is assuming the role of a top passer for Coach Gregg's squad. In the receiving department he has two reliable ends in Bob Hoover and Dale Fout.

Geared for action on the ground are halfbacks Phil Roese and Clarence Bandy and fullback Frank Gloyd. Filling out the line assignments are tackle Howard Newton, guards Steve Stover and Bill Haddox and center Bob Featheringham.

Yankee Position Today Tagged As Unenviable

After Losing Series Opener, Bronx Crew Now Faces Burdette

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The New York Yankees were in a most unenviable position today as they awaited Lew Burdette and the Milwaukee Braves in the second game of the World Series.

Imagine being one down, their best pitcher, Whitey Ford, chased from the mound, and the fellow who vanquished them three times a year ago waiting in the wings?

That was the Yankees' position as they sought to even the series after Wednesday's 10-inning 4-3 Milwaukee triumph behind Warren Spahn in the opener.

Right-hander Bob Turley, who won 21 while losing only seven, was the scheduled Yankee pitcher. He started twice last year. He was routed the first time but came back to defeat the Braves 3-2 in the sixth game.

This year, Burdette won 14 of his last 17 decisions to wind up with a 20-10 record.

In Wednesday's game, the Braves tied the score 3-3 in the eighth and then won it in the 10th on Billy Bruton's single.

"I think we can beat 'em in five," Spahn said after the game. "In fact, it may even be four, if Lew beats Turley. And I think he will."

Actually, Ford was not the losing pitcher. Ryne Duren, the fireball relief pitcher, was charged with the defeat. After blowing his fast ball with spectacular success for 2 1-3 innings, during which he struck out five, the bespectacled right-hander lost some of his blinding speed. Singles by Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Bruton produced the run which broke the 3-3 tie and gave Spahn his third World Series triumph against two defeats.

The 37-year-old southpaw yielded eight hits, walked four and struck out six.

Four players shared the Yankee hits. Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer, Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron collected two hits each. Skowron and Bauer homered, Hank hitting his with one on base, to account for all the Yanks' runs.

Milwaukee gathered 10 hits, six off Ford in seven innings. Spahn helped himself to two hits, one of them driving in a run. Crandall, with a single, and Wes Covington, with a sacrifice fly, drove in the other Milwaukee runs.

Managers Fred Haney of Milwaukee and Casey Stengel of New York promised to shuffle their lineups for the second game.

Haney said he would use Frank Torre at first base, in place of Joe Adcock, and Bruton in center, in place of Andy Pafko. Stengel was coy with the writers but hinted he would start Norm Siebern, a left-handed hitter, in left. That means Elston Howard may be either on the bench or in right field instead of Bauer, who is still nursing a sore wrist. Jerry Lumpe, a left-handed hitter, may replace the right-handed hitting Carey at third base.

Haney's 5 Crucial Decisions Labeled as Keys to Victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "This was the manager's game. He won it just as much as any of the players did. It was the skipper's game all the way."

This was Warren Spahn's clubhouse tribute to Manager Fred Haney's shrewd direction of Wednesday's opening World Series game, won by the Milwaukee Braves over the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings.

Spahnie gained credit for the triumph. Billy Bruton drove in the winning run. Joe Adcock ignited the winning rally with a hit to center. And Del Crandall kept the rally alive with a two-out single over second.

But Fred Haney was in there masterminding all the way.

There were at least five times when Haney had to make a crucial decision. He made the right one each time.

Why did he let Spahn bat in the seventh with the Yankees leading 3-2 and Whitey Ford, their ace southpaw, on the mound?

"I know my own men," Haney said simply. "I have faith in Spahnie. We had three innings to get a run for him. I knew if we did he would hold them off the rest of the way. He's my best and I wanted to continue going with my best."

Why did he order Henry Aaron to swing away instead of sacrificing with a runner on first, nobody out in the eighth and the Yankees still ahead 3-2? Aaron doubled the runner, Eddie Mathews, to third and Wes Covington came through with the long fly that produced the tying run.

"Aaron has won me ball games with the long ball," Haney replied "I don't think he's won me a game in three years with a bunt. If I had Aaron bunt, it would have given Casey Stengel (New York manager) an opportunity to walk Covington. Then we'd have two right-handed hitters facing (Rhyne) Duren, a right-handed pitcher."

Why didn't he send in Frank Torre, a left-handed hitter to swing for the right-handed Joe Adcock, with runners on second and third, Duren on the mound and the Yankees' 3-2 lead in Jeopardy? Adcock struck out but, kept in the game, he came through with the big hit in the 10th.

"I figured if Adcock had been on the bench, I'd have sent him in as a pinch hitter in that spot," Fred explained. "So why take him out? Besides, I wanted to save Torre for a more advantageous spot later in the game."

Why did he do just the opposite an inning later, when he sent up Bruton, a left-handed hitter, to bat for Andy Pafko, a right-handed hitter, against Duren? Bruton fanned.

"Andy gave me 100 per cent out there today," Fred said. "But he is not longer a youngster. I have to watch him to a point where I can keep him at his top physical condition. He was getting tired. It's a long series. I need him."

Why didn't he replace slow-moving Adcock at first base in the 10th with the smoother-fielding Torre after Frank had batted for Johnny Logan in the ninth?

"If I had done that, it meant that Felix Mantilla, who replaced Logan at short, would have been my second hitter in the 10th instead of Adcock. Who would you rather have hitting for you at that state... Mantilla or Adcock?"

Steamin' Demon Sets New Record At Lexington

Steamin' Demon, owned by George W. Van Camp, yesterday set a world's record at the Lexington Trots by turning in a trotting time trial of 2:00.4.

The time sets a combined record for double - gaited stallions. Steamin' Demon's trotting time, plus a 1:58.3 pace set last year, gives him a combined time of 3:59.1.

The old mark of 4:00.4 was set by Hodgen in 1950. Steamin' Demon, the pacer turned trotter, is nearing the completion of a successful first year of trotting.

He has appeared at the Roosevelt and Yonkers Raceways, plus a number of other outstanding harness racing events.

Former record holder Hodgen was owned by McKinley Kirk of Washington C. H., and was driven to his 1950 record by Eddie Cobb.

GOP Women Slate Plans For Election

Remember 1948! That's the battle cry sounded by Pickaway County Republican Women workers at a special "Ring the Bells and Tell the People" Conference held Monday at the Franklin Inn. Mrs. Wilbut Gillespie, New Holland, county chairwoman, presided.

The warning note of what can happen was sounded by Mrs. Florence G. Morris, Toledo, vice chairman of the Republican State Central and Executive Committee. She said, "In 1948 we Republicans lost the election by just 58,000 votes in three states, California, Illinois and Ohio. It averaged out to just about one vote per precinct. So remember how important each vote is and don't fall asleep again."

Mrs. Donna Wagner, Washington C.H., 6th District Committeewoman, gave the 1948 defeat more meaning when she said, "We Republicans had better get busy if we expect to win. The Democrats are organizing in every county in the state. They are better organized than ever before."

The campaign of Sen. John W. Bricker for re-election and the 6th district congressional race in which Elmer S. Barrett, Chillicothe, is the Republican candidate were discussed by Mrs. Barrett, wife of the candidate.

Jury Will Hear Theft Accusation

Raymond E. Cole, 19, Columbus, accused of grand larceny here, was bound to the Pickaway County Grand Jury today on $1,000 bond.

Cole, arraigned in Circleville Municipal Court, was accused of taking two electric drills and several bits and wrenches from the Bernard Ball farm, near Commercial Point. He pleaded innocent to the charge.

Ronald Fairchild, 19, Hilliards, was held for the jury yesterday on an accusation of being involved in the same theft. His bond also was set at $1,000.

The charges were filed by Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey.

Broader SS Benefits Due
Dependents Given Payments Now

An important notice is enclosed with the social security checks delivered this month to the 200,000 disabled workers who are receiving monthly disability insurance benefits.

This notice tells them about a provision in the 1958 Amendments to the social security law under which supplementary dependent's benefits may be paid to certain members of his family.

Disability insurance benefits have been payable to severely disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age since July 1957. These disability payments are equal in amount to the monthly old-age insurance benefits the worker would receive if he were already 65 years of age, but the dependents of these workers have not until now been eligible for payments.

Under the new amendments, the disabled person's dependents will be paid the same benefits they would receive if he were 65 and drawing benefits as a retired worker. Benefits can be paid to any of his children who are under age 18 (or who have been totally disabled since before their 18th birthdays), and to his wife regardless of her age, if she has in her care children who are eligible for these dependent's benefits. If there is no child in the family eligible for benefits, the wife of a disabled person can qualify for benefits when she reaches 62.

It is estimated that about 180,000 dependents of disabled workers could start collecting benefits, beginning with a payment for the month of September, 1958. Before payment can be made, however, an application must be filed by or on behalf of the eligible dependent with the nearest social security office, 32 W. Main St., Chillicothe.

Adams Named Night Jailer

Homer Adams, 30, 316 Logan St., has been appointed by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department to serve as night jailer here.

Adams replaces George Plummer who resigned the job after about two months service.

Adams has worked here as a Circleville Fireman and has served as a special duty officer with the city police department. A brother, Donald Adams, is a city patrolman.

Adams' main duty will be to operate the sheriff's radio from 6 p. m. to 2 a. m. The job pays $240 per month.

The charges were filed by Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey.

Broader SS Benefits Due

Dependents Given Payments Now

An important notice is enclosed with the social security checks delivered this month to the 200,000 disabled workers who are receiving monthly disability insurance benefits.

This notice tells them about a provision in the 1958 Amendments to the social security law under which supplementary dependent's benefits may be paid to certain members of his family.

Disability insurance benefits have been payable to severely disabled workers 50 to 65 years of age since July 1957. These disability payments are equal in amount to the monthly old-age insurance benefits the worker would receive if he were already 65 years of age, but the dependents of these workers have not until now been eligible for payments.

Under the new amendments, the disabled person's dependents will be paid the same benefits they would receive if he were 65 and drawing benefits as a retired worker. Benefits can be paid to any of his children who are under age 18 (or who have been totally disabled since before their 18th birthdays), and to his wife regardless of her age, if she has in her care children who are eligible for these dependent's benefits. If there is no child in the family eligible for benefits, the wife of a disabled person can qualify for benefits when she reaches 62.

It is estimated that about 180,000 dependents of disabled workers could start collecting benefits, beginning with a payment for the month of September, 1958. Before payment can be made, however, an application must be filed by or on behalf of the eligible dependent with the nearest social security office, 32 W. Main St., Chillicothe.

Adams Named Night Jailer

Homer Adams, 30, 316 Logan St., has been appointed by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department to serve as night jailer here.

Adams replaces George Plummer who resigned the job after about two months service.

Adams has worked here as a Circleville Fireman and has served as a special duty officer with the city police department. A brother, Donald Adams, is a city patrolman.

Adams' main duty will be to operate the sheriff's radio from 6 p. m. to 2 a. m. The job pays $240 per month.

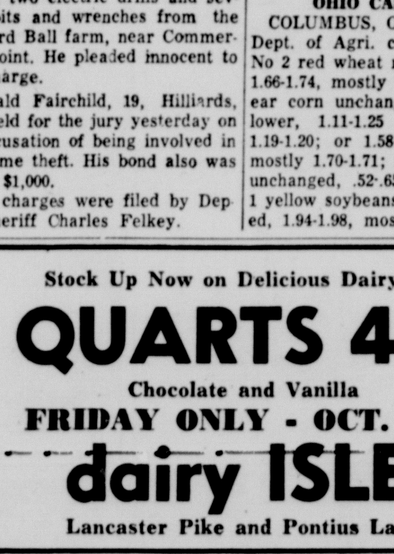

Accidents are fatal to about 13,000 farm residents in the United States each year.
